ICC FINDS FRISCO VIOLATED ACT BUT IT OK'S CONTROL OF GEORGIA LINE

Move Upheld in Public Interest Despite Stock Purchases Without Approval — Examiner Is Overruled.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 20 — The Frisco Railroad's control of the Central of Georgia Railway was approved yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, despite a commission finding that the Frisco had violated the Interstate Commerce Act when it acquired working control of Central of Georgia through a series of stock purchases in 1955.

The ICC took the view that the violation was unintentional, and that the public interest called for authorization of the new railroad tie-up rather than punishment of the Frisco by forcing cancellation of the move.

The decision reversed an ICC examiner's recommendation.

The commission found that Frisco gained control of the Georgia railway without obtaining the required prior authorization from ICC, in violation of the act.

Violation Not Condoned.

The commission stated, however, "This violation, while not to be condoned, is not necessarily a bar to the granting of such appropriate authority under its (the Frisco's) application as will be consistent with the public interest."

A hearing examiner for the ICC last fall recommended that the Frisco be required to divest itself of the unlawfully acquired control, or that the Illinois Central and the Seaboard Air Line Railways be permitted to share control equally with the Frisco. This recommendation was rejected by a three-man division action for the commission.

The decision, made by the ICC finance division, becomes final unless it is appealed by the opposing railroads. The Illinois Central and the Seaboard could request a rehearing by the full commission and then carry the fight into the federal courts.

Commissioner's Comment.

Richard F. Mitchell, one of the three commissioners in the finance division, told the Post-Dispatch the group felt that public interest was the paramount consideration, and not punishment of the Frisco.

He acknowledged that the ICC has been criticized for this attitude in the past. There are two schools of thought about dealing with such cases, he said. One holds that every violator of the Interstate Commerce Act must be penalized. The other believes that when mitigating circumstances exist, they should be taken into account.

Asked what he considered the mitigating circumstances in the Frisco case, Mitchell declared: "I don't think the Frisco had any intention of violating the act . . . I don't think the Frisco realized what they were doing. They didn't realize they were getting control.

"As soon as they learned that there might be a violation, they came in with an application.

Similar Violations

"We have had cases before where there was a violation of the act and we didn't prosecute. There is nothing in the act to require us to prosecute, and there is nothing wrong with not prosecuting.

"I don't think regulation is something that must be held to the letter of the law. We do prosecute in some cases."

John L. Bradford, the examiner who conducted the Frisco hearing, took a different view. He noted that the Frisco owned only 6 per cent of Central's voting stock at the start of 1955 but had increased its holdings

Hoffa in Strong Position to Head Teamsters After His Acquittal

EVELYN WAUGH REFUSES TO LET SPEAKER HORN IN

LONDON, July 20 (AP) — Author Evelyn Waugh, guest of honor at a literary luncheon yesterday, put down his two-foot-long horn-shaped hearing aid and refused to listen. He said he didn't like the speaker.

The speaker, Malcolm Muggeridge, editor of Punch magazine, said he didn't like Waugh either. He added that he had no idea why he had been asked to a luncheon honoring Waugh.

"The fact is I do not know him particularly well—nor have we got on particularly well on the rare occasions we have happened to be in each other's company," Muggeridge complained to the fashionable luncheon crowd.

Waugh, who had brought along the hearing trumpet of the old fashioned sort, kept the hearing aid on the table and stared coldly into space while Muggeridge spoke. He was seated between actress Vivien Leigh and the Duchess of Devonshire, but neither gave any indication of noticing anything wrong.

Waugh picked up the horn with a flourish as soon as Muggeridge sat down.

London newspapers agreed today it was one of the best literary luncheons in years.

FRENCH ATOM CHIEF AGAINST CALLING ANY H-BOMB 'CLEAN'

PARIS, July 20 (AP) — France's high commissioner of atomic energy yesterday said official use of the term "clean" for a hydrogen bomb is shocking and disturbing.

Scientist Francis Perrin aimed his declaration at a recent statement by President Eisenhower about the development of a minimum-fallout H-bomb that could be used for spot action in battle and would not have a widespread, lethal effect on noncombatants.

Mr. Eisenhower used the term "clean" in the sense that the bomb's after-effects would be localized and under control. Perrin took the view that nothing capable of mass destruction in any way should be called "clean."

HOFFA, FREED IN COURT, RUNS INTO NEW TROUBLE

DETROIT, July 20 (AP) — Jubilant James R. Hoffa, Teamsters union vice president acquitted in Washington yesterday of federal bribery and conspiracy charges, got into more trouble with the law last night.

Hoffa was en route from his Detroit home to his summer cottage at nearby Lake Orion when his Cadillac was stopped by Oakland county sheriff's deputies.

Deputies gave Hoffa two traffic tickets—one charging him with driving 60 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone, the other with driving without carrying his operator's license.

Decision on Bribery Charges Leaves Little Doubt He Can Replace Dave Beck.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —James R. Hoffa of Detroit emerged today from his bribery charge acquittal in a strong position to take over from Dave Beck as boss of the 1,400,000-member Teamsters Union.

A United States District Court jury cleared Hoffa yesterday afternoon of charges he conspired and bribed to plant a spy on the staff of the Senate rackets investigating committee.

Hoffa, 44-year-old Midwest Teamsters boss, immediately announced he would get together with friends in Chicago in the next few days to decide on "my future activities in the union." At present, there is little doubt in the labor movement that Hoffa can take over Beck's spot if he wants it, or name whom he wants as Teamsters president.

Hoffa flew to Detroit last night. In response to a question there, he said he financed his trial defense entirely from his own funds, and that he had declined offers by several locals to raise a defense fund for him. He said he had mortgaged his home, cottage and automobile.

Mistrial Granted.

The trial against Hoffa and a co-defendant, Miami attorney Hyman I. Fischbach, began a month ago yesterday. But Fishbach was granted a mistrial last week when his attorney became ill. Fischbach is to be tried later.

United States Attorney Oliver Gasch said Hoffa's acquittal had done nothing to change his opinion of the case against Fischbach.

Members of the Senate committee, headed by Senator John L. McClellan (Dem.), Arkansas, were plainly disappointed with the trial outcome.

The vice chairman, Senator Irving Ives (Rep.), New York, said he felt the verdict was "a miscarriage of justice."

Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep.), Arizona, said: "Joe Louis makes a pretty good defense attorney. That's all I can say."

This was a reference to the fact that the former world heavyweight champion spent a day and a half in a conspicuous place in the courtroom audience as the jury consisting of seven Negroes and five white persons heard the evidence.

Louis described Hoffa to reporters as "my good friend" and said he had come to see what was happening to him.

No Active Part.

On the other side, a Negro Assistant United States Attorney, Harry Alexander, was seated with Government counsel during the trial, though he

CHURCH GROUPS, BOTH CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT, BACKING CHARTER

Archdiocesan Councils of Catholic Men and Women, Metropolitan Federation Urge Support.

Support for the proposed new city charter was announced yesterday by Catholic and Protestant church organizations.

A joint statement by committees of the Archdiocesan Councils of Catholic Men and Women asserted that, although the proposal is "not perfect in all details, it is a document which would serve the best interests of the citizens of St. Louis as a whole, and it should not be opposed or defeated because one or two sections are debatable."

The Metropolitan Church Federation, which went on record for the charter June 29, through its executive director, the Rev. Dr. O. Walter Wagner, sent letters to 700 Protestant ministers yesterday asking them to appeal from their pulpits for favorable votes at the Aug. 6 special election.

Reasons for Support.

"Why should such a good cause as a new efficient city charter need such vigorous support?" Dr. Wagner wrote.

"Because the old political groups in power want things as they are, because the Teamsters' Union is in an all-out campaign to defeat the charter, and because the aldermen set the vote at the low time of summer lethargy—Aug. 6."

He pointed out that the United Church Women, an affiliate of the federation, was providing 200 members to conduct a telephone get-out-the-vote campaign just before the election, and that doctors were co-operating by furnishing patients with absentee ballots.

He asked the ministers to "give in print and pulpit one postive statement for charter support."

Meanwhile, Edward C. Foote, president of the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced its board of directors had voted an indorsement of the charter proposal and that many members would serve as volunteer precinct workers in key wards on election day.

Catholic Indorsement.

The Catholic indorsement was by the legislation committee of the Archdiocesan Council of Women and the social action committee of the Council of Men.

Pointing out that representatives of both councils attended many meetings and public hearings of the freeholders who drafted the charter proposal, the statement said: "It is the considered opinion of the legislative chairmen of the two councils that the new charter will present a great over-all improvement in the city's government."

Miss Beatrice Schruefer, chairman of the Catholic women's committee, said the new charter "makes the mayor directly responsible to the people, improves governmental structure, changes the financial setup and places additional safeguards in the merit system."

Letters to Protestant church women by the city-wide organization called on them to "become familiar with the chief provisions of the charter so that you can refute the distortions and misstatements which are current."

The proposed charter, if adopted, will replace the present 43-year-old instrument. A simple majority is required for approval.

HUGHIE, JAILED AS DEWEY, WINS FREEDOM AT LAST

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 20 (AP)—After nearly a year in the county workhouse, Hughie Atchley finally was released yesterday from serving the sentence of Dewey Atchley.

Dewey, serving a term on a larceny charge, escaped from the workhouse in 1952. Last year, Hughie, thought by officials to be the same man, was brought to Nashville from Atlanta federal penitentiary where he had completed serving a term.

Hughie protested he was not Dewey, but was unable to convince anyone until yesterday when he appeared before a criminal court jury. Judge Chester K. Hart then ordered his release.

HUSBAND MUST PUT WIFE BEFORE GOLF, JUDGE RULES

Court Says Man Must Stop Playing If Necessary to Support Her.

CHICAGO, July 20 (UP)— Circuit Judge John T. Dempsey ruled yesterday that a man's wife comes before his golf game.

The ruling came in a separate maintenance suit filed by Mrs. Marie Lusk, 43 years old. She charged that her husband, James, a dentist, spent so much time on the links that he couldn't make enough money to pay the $220 support money awarded her.

"Your wife comes first," the judge told the dentist. "If necessary, you will have to stop the golf to see that she is supported."

HOUSE CUTS AID, BUT CONFEREES ARE LIKELY TO BOOST IT AGAIN

$747,500,000 Lopped Off, but Final Measure Is Expected to Be More to President's Liking.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —President Eisenhower seemed likely today to get a foreign aid authorization bill more to his liking than the $3,116,833,000 measure passed by the House.

The House passed Mr. Eisenhower's aid bill last night with $747,500,000 lopped from the President's original request. It knocked out just about all of the bill's long-term aid features which marked a new approach to the overseas assistance program this year.

Final House passage by a 254-to-154 roll-call vote climaxed a day-long series of votes which found the bill's supporters on the defensive most of the time.

The measure now is slated for adjustment with a Senate-passed bill closer to the President's request. The Senate authorized a half billion dollars more than the House and approved some of the long-range authority Mr. Eisenhower wanted.

Since the usual practice is to compromise somewhere between the extremes of differing House and Senate bills, the conferees are expected to come up with a measure providing more money than the House version.

Won't Give in Too Much.

However, in yesterday's House session, climaxing a week of debate, aid critics served notice they will oppose any compromise measure which they think gives in too much to the Senate.

An appropriations bill providing actual funds must still be voted on, since the present authorizing legislation only sets terms and ceilings for the aid program.

Chairman Thomas Gordon (Dem.), Illinois, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said today the House voted no changes in the authorizing bill that "seriously harm" the legislation. "I am pleased with the House action," he said.

In its major actions yesterday the House:

1. Voted 155 to 74 to limit to $600,000,000 next year's economic aid fund to support defense programs of United States allies. Mr. Eisenhower asked for $900,000,000 and the Senate approved $800,000,000.

Asked about the House's $300,000,000 cut, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower's position is the same as on Wednesday. The President said then a proposed $400,000,000 slash from his request of $900,000,000 "can be considered as no less than a threat to our nation's security and that of the free world."

One-Year Limit.

2. Decided by voice vote to authorize for only the first year of Mr. Eisenhower's proposed long-term loan fund for economic development projects overseas. Besides $500,000,000 for the first year, Mr. Eisenhower requested $1,500,000,000 for the two succeeding years.

The Senate went along with that feature of the Administration proposal, which aid officials say is a key point in plans for a sounder long-range program.

The House bill also would allow $1,500,000,000 for arms aid in the next 12 months, $400,000,000 below Mr. Eisenhower's request and $300,000,000 less than the Senate; $250,000,000 for "special assistance" or general economic aid, same as the Senate but $50,000,000 under

VLADIVOSTOK BAY CLOSED BY RUSSIA TO FOREIGN CRAFT

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—The Soviet Union today closed Vladivostok bay to navigation by foreign ships and airplanes. The bay lies around and to the south of the city of Vladivostok, the U.S.S.R.'s big Far Eastern port.

A broadcast by Moscow radio said: "Navigation by foreign ships and foreign planes in the area of the bay can take place only with permission of Soviet authorities, with the exception of cases of foreign ships entering or leaving the port of Nakhodka."

Nakhodka is a smaller port about 50 miles southeast of Vladivostok.

"The U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers has considered the question of boundaries of Soviet internal waters in the vicinity of Peter the Great (Vladivostok) bay and has established that the boundaries of Soviet internal waters in this area, and the demarkation line in the direction of the sea of Soviet territorial waters, will be a line joining the estuary of the river Tyumen-Ula with Cape Povorotny," the broadcast said.

Cape Povorotny is about 72 miles southeast of Vladivostok, where the waters of Vladivostok bay join the Sea of Japan. The river Trumen-Ula runs into Vladivostok bay about 100 miles southwest of Vladivostok.

Joint Unit for Curbing President On Giving Fuels to Atom Agency

Committee Votes to Bar Allocation of Nuclear Materials Without Approval of Congress.

© New York Times News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 20— The Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee voted yesterday to limit the President's authority to make nuclear fuels available to the new international atomic energy agency.

The committee approved legislation providing that the President may not allocate any nuclear materials for the atoms-for-peace agency without the approval of Congress.

The legislative restriction was regarded as a setback for the Administration. It raised serious questions about the conditions under which the United States will be able to join the international agency first proposed by President Eisenhower before the United Nations in 1953.

Ratification Delayed.

A treaty establishing the agency was approved by the Senate last month. The State Department, however, has been holding off final ratification of the treaty until it could see what action was taken by Congress on implementing legislation providing for United States representatives to the agency.

The Administration has consistently opposed any restriction aimed specifically at the international atomic energy agency. Its position has been that such a restriction would have an adverse psychological effect against the United States and run counter to the concept that the agency should be free to distribute atomic materials as it sees fit.

State Department officials, taken aback by the unexpected committee action, had no immediate comment on the proposed restriction. Officials have indicated however, that it might be impossible for the United States to join the agency if such a limitation were imposed.

Led by Bricker.

The move to limit the President's authority to make nuclear materials available to the agency was led by Senator John W. Bricker, (Rep.), Ohio. Bricker originally had attempted to attach such a limitation to the treaty, but Senate leaders suggested at the time that a more appropriate place was in the implementing legislation.

Bricker argued that it would reaffirm Congress's constitutional power to dispose of the assets of the Federal Government. State Department officials, however, have been fearful that the restriction also was aimed at preventing the United States from turning over any nuclear materials which might go to Communist countries.

Committee members reported that the Bricker amendment was adopted by a 14-to-2 vote. Representatives Sterling Cole, (Rep.), New York, and Melvin Price, (Dem.), Illinois, voted against it.

POLIO EXPERTS URGE TESTS WITH LIVE-VIRUS VACCINE

GENEVA, July 20 (UP)—Polio experts from 12 countries recommended yesterday that a nwely developed live-virus polio vaccine be tried on human beings.

The scientists, members of the World Health Organization's expert committee on poliomyelitis, said the new vaccine, if tested successfully, would be more effective than the Salk vaccine in producing "reliable immunization" against the disease.

They did not recommend the Salk vaccine, made with polio virus killed in the laboratory, be dropped but that it be supplemented by the new formula.

The experts' report explained the new vaccine contains a living polio virus which has been 'attenuated" (weakened) so that it can give lasting protection against the disease without also causing it in the patient.

HOUSE TO KEEP FOREIGN JUNKET SPENDING SECRET

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —The House voted down yesterday a proposal that it require its traveling members to account for their spending of foreign currencies while abroad.

The proposal was embodied in an amendment offered by Representative William A. Dawson (Rep.), Utah, to the foreign aid bill and defeated by a standing vote of 148 to 86.

Its effect would have been to require committees using counterpart funds to budget such money the same as other money when seeking their annual appropriations from the House contingent fund. Since the House itself passes on all committee expense allotments; the amount of foreign currencies used by the committee would have to be accounted for.

No records now are kept, or at least are not available for public scrutiny, on spending of foreign funds by traveling legislators. These funds are obtained from embassies which in turn receive them from foreign governments in exchange for United States aid.

HOUSE MINORITY REPORT ATTACKS NATURAL GAS BILL

Asserts Measure Would Cost Consumers Billion a Year in Higher Rates.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —Members of the House Interstate Commerce Committee opposed to the natural gas bill said yesterday that its passage would cost consumers approximately a billion dollars annually in higher rates.

A minority report issued by the committee, which recently approved the legislation by a 15-to-13 vote, asserted also that the measure would enrich unjustly a few large oil companies and provide a "multi-billion dollar windfall" to a few pipeline companies which own their own gas reserves.

"The argument that we must pass this bill to provide incentives to producers is ridiculous," commented the minority opinion committeemen.

"Not one additional cubic foot of gas would be made available to consumers by passage of this bill."

They stated that evidence shows there is a 22-year supply of natural gas on reserves, excluding supplies available in Mexico, Canada and from offshore areas.

"The heart of this bill," they continued, "and the real threat to the consumer is that the legislation would substitute 'reasonable market price' for the presently prescribed 'just and reasonable' standard for determining the reasonableness of prices received for natural gas in the field. . . .

"Adoption of this formula would increase consumer costs

MOVES TO PLACE LIMIT ON USE OF INJUNCTION BY U.S. COLLAPSE

Showdown to Come On Proposal to Drop Controversial Section Entirely—Close Vote Expected.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —Southern opponents of the civil rights bill reported progress today in their efforts to erase what they called the "most vicious part" of the measure.

With supporters of the bill split over compromise moves, Senator Richard B. Russell, (Dem.), Georgia, leader of the Southern forces, told reporters he was "very hopeful" the Senate would adopt an amendment to strike out section 3 of the House-passed measure.

That part would authorize the Attorney General to obtain federal court injunctions to protect civil rights generally. Southern Senators have protested that it could be used to force integration in schools and other public places.

Seeks Vote by Tuesday.

Russell said he hoped for a vote no later than Tuesday, and on Monday if possible, on an amendment of Senators Clinton P. Anderson (Dem.), New Mexico, and George D. Aiken (Rep.), Vermont, to eliminate this section of the bill.

Efforts of leading Republican and Democratic supperorts of the bill to agree on a compromise that would remove some of the opposition to section 3 collapsed suddenly late yesterday.

Senate Republican Minority Leader William F. Knowland of California, heading the Administration fight for the bill, said he had concluded no substitute could be worked out "to meet the situation and the desires of the various people with whom we have been discussing it."

He said he was prepared to let the vote come on the Anderson-Aiken amendment rather than attempt to get a vote first on an amendment or substitute softening the terms of section 3.

Like Russell, he spoke of a vote being taken either Monday or Tuesday.

Humphrey Stands Pat.

With this word from Knowland, Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, a leader of northern Democrats backing the bill, promptly told reporters that an amendment he had prepared to modify section 3 would not now be offered.

In outlining his amendment to reporters a few minutes earlier, Humphrey had said he intended to offer it with bipartisan support as a stubstitute for an amendment which he reported Knowland was about to submit.

After these developments, Russell said: "I am glad the Senate is going to have an opportunity to vote up or down this part 3, the most vicious part of the bill."

Senator Paul H. Douglas (Dem.), Illinois, said he was "very hopeful" about the outcome. He said the bill's supporters were "optimistic" about defeating the Anderson-Aiken amendment.

"Watch our smoke," Douglas added.

A more restrained view was taken by Knowland, who said "I think it will be a very close vote."

Knowland said that if section 3 of the bill were deleted, it would be possible later to offer a new section to replace it "if this should be deemed advisable." Humphrey also said adoption of the Anderson-Aiken amendment would not preclude such action.

Jury Trial Issue.

While Section 3 of the bill relates to civil rights in general, another section would permit the Attorney General to obtain federal court injunctions to prevent violations of voting rights.

Persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained under either part of the bill could be jailed or fined for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Russell said that if the Anderson-Aiken amendment is adopted, the next big issue in the battle over the legislation will be on proposals to provide for jury trials in these contempt cases.

While Humphrey and Knowland dropped their efforts to work out a modification of Section 3, they said their earlier amendment to repeal an old reconstruction era law permitting troops to be used to enforce court orders in civil rights cases still stood.

This appeared certain of adoption. It is designed to end the argument of Southern opponents of the bill that under

Boat Is Lowered Into Quarry; Starving Dog on Ledge Rescued

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine)

A black and tan hound dog, stranded on a small ledge 127 feet below ground level in Rock Hill quarry, was rescued yesterday by volunteers and an officer of the Animal Protective Association of Missouri. They used a boat to remove the dog from the ledge, only about 14 inches above 60-foot deep water.

Harold Briggs and his nephew, Lester Briggs, members of the International Rescue Squad, and operators of a garage on Gravois road, Sappington, assisted Officer Andrew Nappier in getting the half-starved and injured animal out. How he got on the ledge is anybody's guess, the elder Briggs said.

The Briggs's boat was lowered into the quarry by a crane of the Rock Hill Quarry Co. The water in the quarry was the result of Deer Creek flooding during last month's torrential rains. It is being pumped out. The quarry is about 190 feet deep.

"After we got the boat in the water," Harold Briggs said, "My nephew, Nappier and I crawled along ledges until we got to it. That was mighty hot work in 90-degree heat.

"We paddled across the quarry to the dog. He was beat, not a bit shy and very calm. He was bleeding from the right side of his head. I lifted him into the boat and we rowed to the opposite side. Nappier put a rope on him and started to lead him up to ground level, but the poor fellow couldn't make it. We had to carry him the last 20 feet."

An association official today reported the dog "was eating and drinking and seemed to be coming around," at the shelter, 1705 Hanley road, Brentwood.

President Plays Golf, Helps Son Move Into New Home on Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 20 (AP)—In the role of weekend country squire and good neighbor, President Eisenhower teed off for a round of golf today under sunny, cloudless skies. He set off around the nine-hole Gettysburg Country Club course with his son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, and retired Brig. Gen. Arthur Nevins.

The President played the neighbor role when he helped his son and daughter-in-law get settled. They moved in last night at the neat white home they acquired from the Chief Executive. It's a done-over, enlarged schoolhouse in a corner of the President's 500-acre farm, about three-quarters of a mile from the Eisenhower home.

John and Barabara came up from Washington late yesterday. The President flew from Washington yesterday afternoon. The Maj. Eisenhowers brought along their youngest, Mary Jean. The other three presidential grandchildren, David, Barbara Anne and Susan were already here with their grandmother.

With David at the tiller of an electric cart, the President shot a fast 18 holes of golf yesterday with Gen. Nevins. The match, with the outcome unannounced as usual, started as soon as Eisenhower could drive from Gettysburg airporet to his farm, change to golf togs, and hurry to the country club.

Nevins, a neighbor and close friend of the President, was 66 years old yesterday. So he was invited over to the Eisenhowers for dinner.

The President, Nevins said, had some new cooking equipment to try out. A package of charcoal had come along from Washington, on a Secret Service plane.

The President expects to return to Washington tomorrow night or Monday morning.

SENATE RACKETS INVESTIGATOR TO QUERY GIBBONS IN CAPITAL TODAY

Committee Counsel Says St. Louis Labor Leader's Appearance Monday 'Depends On His Answers.'

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 20 — Harold J. Gibbons, Teamsters Union leader in St. Louis under subpeana to testify before the Senate rackets investigating committee on Monday, was to be questioned here today by a committee staff investigator.

If Gibbons "can answer the questions, it probably will not be necessary for him to testify Monday," Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the committee, told a reporter. He added that whether Gibbons appears before the committee "depends on his answers" today.

Kennedy turned aside all questions on what the committee is seeking to learn from Gibbons. He said he would not comment on the reasons for the subpena, which was served on the St. Louisan as he was waiting for the not guilty verdict in the conspiracy and bribery trial of James R. Hoffa, Gibbons's close friend and confidante in the union.

'No Idea What It's About.'

Gibbons, who ranks high in the Teamster hierarchy nationally in addition to his St. Louis positions, told the Post-Dispatch: "I have no idea what it's about. I don't know what they are investigating."

There were strong indications that the committee investigator, Paul J. Tierney, wants to ask Gibbons about Teamster activities in the New York City area and about Gibbons's relation with Hoffa, second-ranking man in the union. Tierney is assigned to the committee's New York office.

However, the committee has heard testimony about a $750,000 loan which the St. Louis Teamsters Joint Council sought last year to finance purchase of the Magic Chef building at 1641 South Kingshighway.

The Council requested the loan from the International Teamsters Union, headed by Dave Beck. Donol Hedlund, an officer of National Mortgages, Inc., of Seattle, Wash., testified before the committee in May that Beck directed him to go to St. Louis to look into the transaction.

Fee Paid Reluctantly.

Hedlund said he received a $3750 fee for approving the loan although Gibbons appeared reluctant to pay it.

The Senate Committee, which investigated charges that Beck profited personally from investments of the Teamsters' multimillion-dollar funds, introduced evidence to show that the husband of Beck's niece owns one-third of the stock in Hedlund's firm.

Gibbons said he had told Tierney that he had to be in Chicago Monday to take part in union negotiations with the Montgomery Ward Co.

"Tierney told me he wanted to ask me a few questions and if I would meet with him today it might not be necessary for me to testify Monday," Gibbons said.

"I have nothing to hide about my operations," he added. He said he did not think he would be accompanied by an attorney when he sees Tierney, although Edward Bennett Williams, Washington attorney who defended Hoffa, has represented Gibbons previously.

U.S.-MISSOURI LAND SWAP APPROVED BY HOUSE UNIT

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —A House Agricultuer subcommittee yesterday approved legislation authorizing the Federal Government and Missouri to exchange tracts of lands in national forests.

Missouri owns 5500 acres in the Clark and Mark Twain national forests. The land involved in the exchange is held for the benefit of the University of Missouri.

The purpose of the exchange is to consolidate for the university a suitable area of forested lands for use as a school forest for the summer camp of the university's forestry school.

AUTO KNOCKS HOLE IN WALL OF STORE, DRIVER ARRESTED

An automobile driven by William R. Maher, a salesman, knocked a six-by-ten-foot hole in the wall of a store at Carter and Gano avenues yesterday after the brakes failed.

Maher, booked for careless driving and destruction of property, told police he had the choice of ramming another machine, turning toward the right where several children were playing on a sidewalk, or hitting the wall on the left. Damage to the building, the A. & M. Confectionery, and to Maher's automobile was not estimated. Maher lives at 5226 Goodfellow boulevard.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH; AUTO IN WRONG LANE

Wrong-Way Driver Had Hit Another Car Shortly Before Fatal Accident.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 20 (AP)—A car traveling in the wrong lane early today hit the station wagon of a Brownsville (Tex.) family just south of Springfield on Route 66, killing two persons and injuring three others.

State police identified the dead as John V. Glanders, 41 years old, of Carlinville, and Mrs. Clarence Kirby, 33, of Brownsville. Glanders was reported heading north in the southbound lane for about 20 miles before the collision occurred.

Injured in the Brownsville car were Clarence Kirby, husband of the woman who was killed, and their two children, Joyce, 11, and Helen, 12. They were taken to St. John's Hospital in Springfield.

Police said they had a report that Glanders was in the wrong lane of the four-lane highway and were on their way to intercept him when the crash occurred. Kirby was driving the station wagon, apparently headed homeward. Mrs. Kirby was killed when she was thrown from the vehicle.

Glanders also sideswiped another car about three miles south of the accident, police said, but no injuries were reported.

PRINCE ACCUSED OF TRYING TO RUN OVER PALACE GUARD

TUNIS, July 20 (AP)—The Bey of Tunis's younger son, Prince Salah Eddine, was held in jail today charged with trying to run down a palace guard with his automobile.

It is unprecedented for a member of the royal family to be jailed. Political sources said the motive probably was to lower the Bey's prestige with the people of Tunis. Informed sources said Premier Habib Bourguiba and his regime wanted to do this as a preliminary to dethroning the Bey.

Tunisian Ambassadors abroad and the political bureau of the ruling Neo-Destour party will open a conference Monday which is expected to decide formally on the expulsion of the Bey and creation of a Tunisian republic. Sidi Mohammed Al-Amin has been Bey of Tunis since 1943. Prince Salah Eddine is not in line to succeed his father.

U.S. BOOSTS TAX CLAIMS ON ESTATE OF CARL BIANCHI

The Federal Government has increased to $108,400 its claims against the late Carl (Dutch) Bianchi and his widow, it was revealed yesterday by liens filed in the recorder of deeds office in Clayton.

Previously the Government had asked Mrs. Bianchi, of 11447 Clayton road, Frontenac, to pay $75,447 in income taxes and penalties for money Bianchi, who was convicted of labor racketeering, was alleged to have received from contractors in 1950 through 1952. The liens claim $19,403 due for income taxes for 1953, as well as making other claims for 1950 through 1952.

Bianchi, a former business agent of the AFL Hoisting Engineers, was serving a 10-year sentence for racketeering at the time of his death at Leavenworth (Kan.) Penitentiary March 1, 1956.

MOTHER OF LIBERACE BETTER, NO CLUE IN BEATING

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (INS) —Mrs. Frances Casadonte, the 68-year-old mother of pianist Liberace, was reported in an improved condition today at North Hollywood Receiving Hospital but police said they had no tangible clue to explain the beating she suffered from masked thugs.

Mrs. Casadonte was beaten and kicked into unconsciousness Thursday night in the garage of her son's swank Sherman Oaks home.

Liberace was appearing at a Hollywood night club at the time of the attack. His mother told police that two men with hoods over their faces jumped her and knocked her senseless. She suffered bruises, contusions and a fractured rib.

Sky Watchers Not Taken in By Satellite That Wasn't Here

23 Persons Participate in Unsuccessful Search for Simulated Sphere — Part of National Test.

Twenty-three persons spent 90 minutes anxiously and unsuccessfully searching the sky above St. Louis for a simulated earth satellite last night. It was not until they had finished manning their telescopes that they were told the reason they could not find the "satellite."

It was not there.

Stuart L. O'Byrne, director of observers here who took part in a national practice in preparation for the expected launching of a man-made earth satellite next year, was jubilant over last night's results.

"It would have been slightly embarrassing if we had reported seeing the 'satellite,'" he noted.

Make-believe satellites — actually battery-powered lights towed by Civil Air Patrol planes —flew over less than half of 90 observing points throughout the country. In order to provide a reliable test, local observers were not told in advance the cities where each "fly-by" was to take place.

Officials at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., headquarters for the national "Operation Moonwatch," termed the drill a complete success. Simulated satellites were spotted and tracked successfully at stations throughout the country, they said.

Observers here used refractor telescopes of low power with a wide field of vision. Eight of the instruments, mounted on the roof of The Seven-Up Co., building, 1300 Delmar boulevard, were arranged to provide a view of a wide band of the sky stretching along the meridian from the zenith to a point two-thirds of the way to the southern horizon.

The only astronomical phenomenon reported by the St. Louis group was a meteor, spotted by John Ross, 5790 Kingsbury place, a clerk at the Public Library.

Several other objects were seen, however. Among them were a lazy spider, wandering moths, an airplane and a pigeon that for a moment looked like a speeding meteor.

MAJOR CONVICTED IN MOVE TO COVER LOSS OF SECRETS

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany, July 20 (AP)—A United States Army security officer was convicted yesterday of falsifying a document to cover up the loss of a top secret letter.

A general court-martial ordered Maj. Harry G. Thorpe of Arlington, Va., dismissed from the service with forfeiture of all pay and allowances. He was convicted of making a false official statement and conduct unbecoming an officer.

The chief witness against Thorpe was M. Sgt. Dan Burns, who testified a document known as "PS 532, Seventh Army letter of instruction on emergencies" was found missing in April 1956.

Thorpe, top secret control officer for the Army's western area command in Germany, made an intense search for the missing paper but failed to find it, Sgt. Burns testified.

Before the major was transferred, he signed a certificate of destruction and instructed Burns to file it in place of the lost letter, the sergeant told the court. The incident came to light when Thorpe's successor learned from Burns how the problem of the missing document had been handled.

STAYS EVICTION OF 26 CATS, BECAUSE ONE HAS KITTENS

ENGLEWOOD, N.J., July 20 (AP)—Acting magistrate Lester Kramer stayed the eviction of 26 cats yesterday because one of them had five kittens.

Their owner, Mrs. Marion Westlake, had been given until yesterday to get rid of 26 of her 28 cats. The Health Department said they were a public nuisance.

Mrs. Westlake pleaded hardship, asking Kramer for a week's extension because of the new kittens. Kramer granted the extension but said Mrs. Westlake still may keep only two of the cats after the week is up.

Three persons were treated for heat exhaustion at hospitals here yesterday and released.

Thadeus Doyle, 67, of 6607 South Broadway, was treated at the hospital, and Joseph Stickner, 56, laborer, Arnold, Mo., was treated at Alexian Brothers Hospital.

PEOPLE RETURN TO HOMES NEAR WEAKENED DAM

CAPULIN, Colo., July 20 (AP)—Farmers and townspeople folded their tents and moved back to their homes yesterday as the threat of a break in the terrace reservoir subsided.

More than 1000 people live in the immediate area in southwest Colorado. Many moved to higher ground Tuesday, fearing a wall of water if the dam broke. Engineers working to plug a leak in the 45-year-old earthfill structure were cautiously optimistic that it would not burst.

State enginer J. E. Whitten in Denver said, "I feel the situation still is serious, but prospects are good that the dam will not fail."

ADMITS HE ROBBED SAME FILLING STATION NINE TIMES

Thomas H. Rehg of Belleville, who was arrested yesterday when attempting to cash a forged check, has admitted breaking into a service station in Belleville nine times in the last two months, police reported.

Rehg, 18 years old, told police on one occasion when he robbed the Fred Ziska service station he stole 10 blank checks bearing the firm's name. He told police he forged the name of the Ziska's son, Ronald, on the checks and cashed them for a total of $940.

When arrested at a Belleville bank, Rehg was free on $3000 bond on charges of forgery and burglary and larceny, police said. The bond was canceled when four other forgery charges were filed against him. Total bond on the charges against Rehg, who was taken back to St. Clair county jail, was set at $13,000.

MANDATORY MARX-LENINISM COURSES BACK IN HUNGARY

VIENNA, July 20 (AP)— Budapest radio said today the Hungarian Education Ministry has ordered the reintroduction of compulsory courses in Marx-Leninism in Hungarian universities.

Abolition of the classes was one of the demands of Hungarian students who were among the leaders of last fall's revolt.

The broadcast said the Education Ministry has promised that the new Marx-Leninism classes will use "new methods and certain modifications." It did not elaborate.

GIRL, 7, FALLS 30 FEET, BOTH LEGS FRACTURED

Carolyn Parker, 7 years old, suffered fractures of both legs when she fell 30 feet from a third-floor window of her home, 4323 West Belle place, to a concrete sidewalk yesterday.

Police said the child, a Negro, was leaning from an unscreened window. She is in Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

ARRESTED UNDER NEW CITY LAW ON AD SOLICITATION

Manager First to Be Accused of Violating Bar on Unauthorized Canvassing.

The first arrest under a new city ordinance designed to protect the public from fraud in unauthorized solicitation of advertising was made by police yesterday at the L. & M. Advertising Co., 4738A Gravois avenue, publishers of various "guides."

Earl Swallow, described as the office manager, was booked to appear in police court Monday for alleged violation of the ordinance, which carries a fine of $1 to $500. He was released on bond.

The ordinance, which had the support of Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, was enacted July 6 with an emergency clause, making it effective immediately after receiving the mayor's signature. It prohibits the solicitation of advertising for unauthorized directories or pamphlets purportedly published for the benefit of civic, religious, fraternal or patriotic organizations.

Police reported that the L.& M. Advertising Co. is operated by Lloyd and Robert McComy, brothers, who publish the "City Hall Guide," the "State Sheriffs' News" and religious organization pamphlets. Several advertising solicitors were in the office when Swallow was arrested. Officers previously had interrogated a collector, who told them she received a percentage of collections as compensation.

Prior to the enactment of the ordinance police were powerless to halt the unauthorized solicitation as long as the operators actually published "guides." The operation was described by investigators as profitable.

Swallow, 24 years old, gave an address in the 3900 block of Randall place.

$219,394 TAX LIENS FILED AGAINST LABOR RACKETEERS

Income tax liens totaling $219,394 were filed today against Lawrence A. Thompson and William Poster, convicted labor racketeers, in the recorder of deeds office at Clayton.

Thompson, former business agent of a Cape Girardeau (Mo.) teamsters' union, allegedly owes the Government $122,069 in taxes, penalties and interest for the years 1950 through 1953. Poster, a former St. Louis building laborers' boss, and his wife, Margaret, were sued for $89,490 for alleged delinquencies in the same period.

Another lien, for $7835, named Poster and the Washington Equipment & Construction Co., which Government witnesses testified was a dummy corporation organized to "cover up" extortion payoffs. The corporation was also sued for $559 with Mrs. Poster being named as transferee. Thompson and Poster were convicted twice in 1954 and 1955 of racketeering and were sentenced to serve 10 years in prison. Thompson is an inmate of Leavenworth Peniteriary and Poster is held at the Springfield (Mo.) Medical Center for federal prisoners.

LENS SHOOTS FROM TV CAMERA, 2 GENERALS HURT

LONDON, July 20 (AP) — A lens which enables TV cameras to switch to long distance shots without losing focus shot out of its camera atop the Ascot racetrack stands yesterday. A couple of passing generals were injured.

The lens, three feet long and weighing 46 pounds, hurtled out of a British Broadcasting Corp. camera just as the first race got under way. It landed on the shoulder of Maj. Gen. David Dawnay, clerk of the course at Ascot, and then bounced onto Brig. Roscoe Harvey. Both men were bruised but stayed at the races after a checkup by the course doctor.

The BBC said no lens had ever reached out that far before and suggested that something must have gone wrong with its equipment.

Suit for divorce was filed in circuit court at Clayton yesterday by Mrs. Gertrude A. Lindburg, 14 Holiday lane, Frontenac, against Earl C. Lindburg, vice president of the Lindburg Cadillac Co. She alleged general indignities.

The petition said they were married Sept. 4, 1943, at Oakland, Calif., and separated last May 24. Mrs. Lindburg asked custody of their two children, Nancy B., 8 years old, and Earl C. Lindburg Jr. 12.

Lindburg filed suit for divorce in May 1956 but later dismissed the suit, and Mrs. Lindburg dismissed a cross-bill she had filed.

MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER IN HOLDUP KILLING

Cook Identifies Suspect As Robber Who Shot Customer in Restaurant.

A warrant charging David Lee Cissel, 2505A W. Dodier street, with first degree murder in the holdup killing of Harry Woods, an odd-jobs man, was isued yesterday by the Circuit Attorney's office.

Woods, 62 years old, was shot fatally early yesterday when he attempted to stop a holdup of a restaurant at 1927 North Grand boulevard. He advanced on the holdup man with a 3-foot length of iron pipe and struck the robber on the left arm. The robber then fired at Woods and fled without loot.

Cissel, 22 years old, a boilermaker, was arrested about 15 minutes after the shooting by detectives who said his automobile was similar to the one used by the robber.

William Meadows, a cook at whom the robber pointed a snub-nosed pistol, identified Cissel as the holdup man. Meadows picked Cissel out of a line of men in a police showup and said he would "never forget his face."

Cissel has steadfastly denied knowing anything about the shooting. He told police he left his job at National Gypsum Co. plant on St. Cyr road in St. Louis county about 12:30 a.m. yesterday. With a friend he went to a tavern on North Broadway where they drank a few beers, he said.

Later, Cissell took his friend to his home in Riverview Gardens, he said, and then started to drive to Dodier street. It was while he was en route home that he was arrested, he said.

The friend, police said, corroborated Cissel's statement, saying Cissel did not leave Riverview Gardens until about 2:15 a.m. Police said the shooting occurred at 2:28 a.m.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Clyde S. Cahill, who issued the warrant, said the case would be presented to the grand jury.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE USED FOR STORAGE AT NURSERY

Fire caused extensive damage early today to a converted two-story frame house used for storage by the Westover Nursery Co. at 7814 Olive boulevard, University City. The interior was badly burned, and there was damage to trellises and flower boxes stored in the structure.

A University City police officer on patrol discovered the fire at 2:50 a.m. when he saw smoke and flame shooting from the second story. Three pumpers and an aerial truck answered the alarm. Firemen fought the blaze for two hours.

Assistant Fire Chief Edward Morgenthaler of University City estimated damage at $1000 to the building and $500 to its contents. The fire was believed to have started in a stairwell.

ARMED MAN STEALS $400 IN LIQUOR STORE HOLDUP

Five persons were held up last night in a liquor store at 2827 North Vandeventer avenue by an armed man, who obtained $400 from Dan Bluestone, the proprietor, and from a cash register.

The robber, a Negro, entered the store shortly before 8 p.m., displayed a revolver, and ordered Mrs. Sarah Scissors, 7239 Amherst avenue, University City, aunt of the proprietor, two customers and a clerk into a rear room where Bluestone was working. After taking Bluestone's wallet the man forced the victims to lie on the floor, then rifled the cash register and fled.

WOMAN CLERK IN DRUG STORE HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $75

Mrs. Fay E. Swinney, a clerk in a drug store at 2602 North Kingshighway, was robbed of $75 last night by two men, who went into a telephone booth until two customers left the store, then came out and displayed a revolver. The robbers fled in an automobile.

Charles Rike, attendant at a filling station at 4551 Manchester avenue, was held up early today by three men in an automobile. One man, in the rear seat, pointed a revolver at Rike and forced him to hand over $79.

AMMONIA ESCAPES IN JEFFERSON HOTEL

One Worker Affected— Guests Unaware of Leak in Basement.

One Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel employe was affected by fumes, and six others others fled from the bake shop when ammonia escaped from the refrigeration system in the sub-basement of the hotel today.

Most of the guests were not awake when the accident had occurred.

Fumes were confined to the basement area and to St. Charles street, where employes, who had arrived to go to work, stood in the street. A kitchen employe, Ora Murdoch, 1085 Liberty street, a Negro, became ill on the street and was taken to City Hospital.

Firemen called to the hotel at 7:15 a.m. donned masks and shut off a valve in the subbasement. They reported that pressure apparently had forced gas through a safety valve, filling a vent leading to the roof of the 12-story hotel. Some of the ammonia returned down an auxiliary pipe to the sub-basement, and some fell to the street.

Bake shop employes fled to the street when fumes became strong in the basement. The foreman told a reporter that bread and cake dough in the mixing machines would be lost, due to the fumes.

About 40 employes, principally maids and kitchen workers, remained in St. Charles street until blowers cleared the building. A repair crew was then sent to examine the ammonia system, which is operated by the hotel. An assistant manager said some room air-conditioning probably would be affected temporarily.

Guests were driven from the hotel last February by fumes after on electric motor, which workmen were removing in the sub-basement, fell and broke an ammonia pipe. Ten persons, hotel employes and firemen, were treated for the effects of ammonia inhalation.

Marshall Hayhurst, a retired police patrolman, was found shot to death yesterday in the basement of his home, 4945 Loughborough avenue.

The body, shot in the chest, was found by Theodore Schneider, a neighbor. A .38-caliber police revolver was nearby.

Hayhurst, 75 years old, retired in 1943 after 36 years in the police department. His wife is seriously ill in City Hospital.

BOY, 7, RUNNING ACROSS STREET KILLED BY AUTO

Woman Loses Life, Three Others Injured When Truck and Car Collide in Illinois.

James Mumma, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Vera Tucker, 1424 Laurel avenue, was fatally injured today when he was struck by an automobile near his home.

The boy apparently was running across Laurel from the east to the west side, where his stepfather, Wilmer Tucker, a meat cutter, was talking to a neighbor.

James was taken to Park Lane Hospital, where he died of head injuries about two hours after the accident.

Driver of the automobile, Herbert Goldstein, 1392 Goodfellow boulevard, told police the child ran from between two parked cars into the right front bumper of his machine. The boy's stepfather did not see the accident.

Mrs. Laura B. Gremar, 3114 North Thirteenth street, died early today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, of injuries suffered last night in an automobile accident at the intersection of U.S. Highway 460 and Illinois Route 161, about 10 miles east of East St. Louis. Three other persons were injured.

Mrs. Gremar's daughter, Mrs. Nellie Brown, 539 Calvary avenue, suffered head and body injuries. She is in serious condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Her son, Robert Gremar, 1905 North Ninth street, and the driver of the machine, Howard L. Peterson of Hannibal, Mo., were treated for minor injuries at the hospital. Gremar suffered a slight head injury and multiple contusions. Peterson was treated for injuries of the right arm and a contusion of the chest.

The driver of the truck, Roach N. Taylor, Charleston, Mo., was uninjured. Mrs. Gremar was 74 years old.

Illinois state police said the Peterson machine turned into a divided highway into the path of the truck.

HAGERTY TRADES VERBAL PUNCHES WITH SYMINGTON IN DEFENSE ROW

Says Senator, Who Accuses Eisenhower of 'Irresponsibility,' Should Get His Facts Straight.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —Charges of "incredible irresponsibility" were traded by Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, and the White House yesterday in a new row over defense appropriations.

Symington leveled his charge against President Eisenhower in a Senate speech criticizing what he called the President's "vacillating policies."

The White House rejoinder came from presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, who told reporters that "Mr. Symington ought to get his facts straight."

Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, sided with Symington, saying he has been appalled and amazed by what he called the "confusion" of Administration statements on both military and foreign policy.

What happened was this:

Earlier this year Mr. Eisenhower asked Congress for $36,250,000,000 in new funds for the Defense Department. The House cut this request by more than $2,500,000,000. Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson then asked the Senate to restore about $1,200,000,000 of the House cut.

Increased by Senate.

The Senate boosted the House figure by $971,000,000 and the bill went to Senate-House conference.

Yesterday Senator Dennis Chavez (Dem.), New Mexico, head of the Senate conferees, made public a letter from Wilson calling attention to a 100,000-man reduction in armed forces strength planned for the next six months and saying the department could get along with $142,000,000 less than the Senate voted.

Wilson's latest request was for a total of $34,391,980,000. He said most of the Senate increases for military personnel, both regular and reserve, could be dropped, but he asked retention of Senate increases for aircraft, ships and weaopns.

Chavez said this was the third set of official requests on defense funds, and the second reduction, and he added in an interview: "The Senate conferees are somewhat confused."

'Fearful Gamble.'

Humphrey said the Administration had "pulled the rug out from under" Senate defenders of the Eisenhower-Wilson budget requests.

Symington said most Senators, in voting to restore a large part of what Mr. Eisenhower had requested, had believed the President was sincere in protesting the House cut as a "fearful gamble."

Symington referred to letters from Mr. Eisenhower. Actually the letters weer signed by Wilson, but he wrote that "the President approved" the cutback in forces.

Hagerty said Symington "corrected" himself later yesterday and said the letters were written by the Defense Secretary and approved by the President. The Press Secretary added "to paraphrase the Senator, I think that amounts to incredible irresponsibility on Symington's part."

Informed of Hagerty's comment, Senator Symington told a reporter: "If Mr. Hagerty says I made any correction of my statements, that is not true. I did not correct anything. My statement stands and I will have more to say about the matter when the Senate reconvenes (Monday)."

Symington commented that he had said Mr. Eisenhower "sent in two letters" but did not say he wrote them himself. The Senator said the President bears responsibility for decisions by Secretary Wilson and Budget Director Percival Brundage.

AFGHANISTAN'S KING SEES RUSSIA'S MILITARY SHOW

MOSCOW, July 20 (AP)—The Soviet Defense Ministry brought out planes, tanks, artillery and infantry yesterday in a military display for visiting King Mohammed Zahir of Afghanistan.

Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Minister of Defense, was the host at the summer camp of the mechanized Kalinin division outside Moscow.

Before the show, Zahir called on Communist chief Nikita Khrushchev in his Kremlin offices for what a communique said was a friendly chat. The King visited the state agricultural fair. His Soviet hosts presented him with two thoroughbred horses. Zahir also laid a wreath at the Lenin-Stalin tomb.

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 20 (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Gladys Zender of Peru was crowned Miss Universe last night, the first Latin American ever to win.

There was no United States entry in the finals because of the disqualification of Leona Gage, Maryland's married Miss U.S.A.

The girls from south of the border made a runaway of the finals. A girl from Brazil, Terezinha Goncalves Morango, 20, placed second, and dark-eyed Maria Rosa Gamio, 19, of Cuba, was fourth.

Sonia Hamilton, 23, a blonde from London, was third choice in the judging and Gerti Daub, 19, of Germany was fifth among the 15 semifinalists.

Tears flowed freely backstage after the winners were announced. Miss Zender donned her pearl-studded crown and faced photographers with tears streaming down her face—and a smile on her lips.

Miss Zender is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, has a 23½-inch waist and 36-inch hips and bust. She has not disclosed her weight.

Her selection is apparently going to set a new standard of behavior for Miss Universe contest queens.

Can't Travel Alone.

The sheltered daughter of one of Lima's leading families, she is in no hurry to cash in on such of her prizes as personal appearance tours for a bathing suit manufacturer and a cosmetics firm. And if she does go it won't be alone.

"She must at all times be accompanied by her mother," said her father sternly. Zender is president of Lima's largest paper products manufacturing plant and the brother of a Peruvian Cabinet minister.

Mrs. Mary Leona Gage Ennis, the 18-year-old who won the Miss United States title before it was discovered she was married, flew back to Maryland today with the prospect of cashing in on the sensation she created.

The girl who won the American title over 43 other homegrown contestants, only to be disqualified, wasn't even present at the finish of the 10-day pageant.

When she left she took along a contract for a $200-a-week engagement at a hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., had an offering of a featured role in a film and was deluged by offers from television shows and night clubs.

Learns Father Is Alive.

Mrs. Ennis fainted last night when a reporter told her her father is alive. She had said he was dead. It developed that her father, F. D. Gage, 36, is a palsied patient in a Wichita Falls (Tex.) hospital.

She explained that her father had been injured in two accidents in Texas, and paralyzed. After she left Texas for Maryland with her husband two years ago she said she couldn't find out definitely from her family so "I resigned myself to the thought that he was dead."

Her divorced mother is now Mrs. Walter Biggs of Dallas. Mrs. Biggs told reporters in Dallas that she had written the girl, telling her that her father was dead.

Air Force Sgt. Gene Norris Ennis, 28, stationed at Maryland's Friendship International Airport, said he will have a leave to go to Las Vegas with her for a vacation before her hotel show starts Sept. 4. She said their two boys, Gene, 3, and David, 2, will go with them.

Ennis said in a Baltimore television interview: "She feels great about it and I'm as proud of her as I can be."

But her mother-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Long of Crisfield, Md., told a reporter: "That's an awful way to have to live, by lying. Anything you get by cheating is not worth having."

the President's figure, and $151,900,000 for technical assistance or "Point Four" aid, equal to the President's and Senate amounts.

The House measure would completely deny Mr. Eisenhower's request for permanent, no-ceiling authorization for military defense support and technical aid in future years.

Senate Balked, Too.

The Senate approved a two-year authorization for military and defense support funds so those items could be included in the regular defense budget next year, but it, too, balked at permanent approval for technical assistance.

The program's supporters in the House did succeed in beating moves to bar aid to Yugoslavia, to Poland and to Latin American dictatorships, and they won in a semifinal 227 to 181 roll call vote on a motion aimed at knocking out the development loan fund altogether.

Both Democratic and Republican House leaders supported the bill, and the opposition was bipartisan too.

On final passage, 185 Democrats and 119 Republicans voted for the bill while 78 Democrats and 76 Republicans voted against. On the recommittal motion to strike out the loan fund, 103 Democrats and 78 Republicans voted for, while 110 Democrats and 117 Republicans were against.

its terms, the armed forces might be used to enforce the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

Watkins Proposal.

Senator Arthur V. Watkins (Rep.), Utah, a sponsor of the bill, offered an amendment to Section 3 yesterday to prevent the Attorney General from seeking injunctions in civil rights cases involving racial integration, except at the request of state or local authorities.

Knowland said the Watkins proposal was not satisfactory to him.

Knowland offered three minor amendments to the section which would create a commission to study civil rights. The amendments would make appointment of the commission's director subject to Senate confirmation, eliminate a provision allowing the commission to use "volunteer" workers, and require the group to report to Congress as well as the President.

2 WHITE YOUTHS ACQUITTED IN KILLING OF NEGRO

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—A criminal court jury last night acquitted two white teen-agers of murder in the shotgun killing of a Negro youth.

The jury deliberated nearly four hours and then freed David VanderSteeg, 19 years old, and Dennis Moffitt, 19, both of Chicago. They were charged with murdering Curtis Bivins, 17, April 23.

VanderSteeg testified in the trial before Judge Harold P. O'Connell that the shooting was accidental. He said a group of Negroes began stoning his car and the shotgun went off as he ducked on the floor of the vehicle.

A third defendant, Eunice Miller, 17, who was riding with Moffit and VanderSteeg, will be tried later. She had testified for the state. The jury was empowered to recommend the death penalty. The foster mother of the victim, Mrs. Elaine Williams, asked for mercy for the two teen-agers.

BROWNELL AID CONFERS IN PARIS ON ACCUSED SPIES

PARIS, July 20 (UP)—Assistant United States Attorney General William F. Tompkins met today with United States embassy officials on his mission to obtain the extradition of an American couple accused of spying for Russia.

Tompkins conferred with United States Ambassador Amory Houghton and other embassy officials for the second time since his arrival by plane yesterday.

Tompkins came here to try to persuade the French government to extradite George Zlatovski, Russian-born former United States Army officer, and Jane Foster Zlatovski, his American-born wife, who were indicted July 8 by a New York grand jury.

MOST OF 53,000 BOY SCOUTS AT JAMBOREE ON WAY HOME

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP)—Most of the more than 53,000 Boy Scouts who attended the big jamboree at nearby Valley Forge are on their way home now, taking and leaving a host of fine memories.

For the first time in nearly two weeks the crowded streets of Philadelphia today were barren of boys in khaki sounding off in song and troop yells. It was left to George Wickersham, policeman on duty at Twelfth and Market, one of the city's busiest crossings, to deliver a telling last line about the great show: "Here's a switch. All week long I've been helping Boy Scouts cross the street!"

RUSSIA SAYS U.S. DELAYS PROGRESS AT ARMS PARLEY

Zorin Asserts It Has Not Given Position on Soviet Proposal for Limited Treaty.

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin today blamed the United States for the slow progress of the United Nations disarmament talks.

He said the United States had not given its position on Russian proposals for a limited disarmament treaty put before the five-power U.N. subcommittee as far back as April.

"Obviously," he added, "it is difficult to hope for success in our work if the position of one of the parties remain unknown and vague."

The Soviet delegate gave his views in answers to written questions put to him by the Manchester Guardian.

As He Sees Main Obstacles

Commenting on a question as to the main obstacles to reaching a partial disarmament agreement, Zorin replied:

"From the positions of the Western powers already presented it is clear that they oppose the separate adoption of a decision to suepend atomic and hydrogen weapon tests immediately, and that they oppose the renunciation of the use of atomic and hydrogen weapons for military purposes.

"As regards a major reduction of armed forces, the Western powers hedge this measure round with political and other conditions. The adoption of this standpoint by the Western powers puts obstacles in the way of agreement—agreement which, in realtiy, would meet with the interests of world peace and the security of the peoples."

No Conditions on Proposals.

Zorin was asked whether the Russians were insisting that an agreement on the ending of nuclear tests include a declaration on the barring of the use of nuclear weapons.

"No," he replied. "The Soviet Union does not put forward any conditions for reaching agreement on the immediate cessation of atomic and hydrogen weapon tests. Our point of view is that solution of this question should not be made dependent on the settling of other questions of disarmament."

Asked "what are the Soviet proposals for ending the nuclear arms race as opposed to the moratorium on tests?" Zorin answered:

"The Soviet Union has advocated, and continues to advocate, the complete prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons. . . . However, since the Western powers reject such a solution . . . the Soviet Union has agreed to the adoption of partial measures in this sphere, as a beginning.

Step by Step Procedure.

"We have proposed, first, that agreement be reached, as an independent step, to discontinue tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons, having in mind that this would place an obstacle in the way of further developing atomic and hydrogen weapons.

"Secondly, we have proposed that the states should give an undertaking not to use atomic and hydrogen weapons of any kind for military purposes. . . .

"If the Western powers were to consent forthwith to agree to complete prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons, to the cessation of the production of these weapons, and to their elimination from the armament of the states, the Soviet Union would welcome such a step on their part."

The Western powers are insisting that temporary suspension of nuclear tests be linked with an agreement to gradually cut conventional armed forces and armaments and the eventual suspension under effective controls of nuclear production for military purposes.

Reaction to West's Plan.

Zorin, giving the Soviet position to this plan, said:

"If the Western powers would agree to the suspension of atomic and hydrogen weapon tests with a view to sussequent agreement on other disarmament measures, there would be no obstacle to the immediate adoption of a decision to end these tests.

"In suggesting the suspension of tests for two or three years as an independent step, the Soviet Union bears in mind that, on such an agreement being reached, efforts will be continued to work out both an agreement on partial disarmament and also to a broader agreement on disarmament.

"The ending of tests would undoubtedly create more favorable conditions for solving all other disarmament problems."

DULLES TO REVIEW PARLEY ON AIR

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —Secretary of State John Foster Dulles plans a nation-wide radio-television speech Monday night to detail the United States position on disarmament —a subject of heavy Russian criticism recently.

State Department sources said one purpose of the "comprehensive statement" would be to offset Soviet attacks on United States proposals at the London disarmament talks.

The department said Dulles would speak for 30 minutes, beginning at 8 p.m., St. Louis time. The talk will be carried by the ABC television network.

TEXTILE UNION TO STUDY STEPS TO KEEP 'CLEAN'

Meeting Follows Disclosure of Use of Funds to Buy Homes For Leaders.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —The executive council of the United Textile Workers union, under fire from Senate rackets investigators meets today to consider proposals that it adopt new "clean union" safeguards.

The rackets committee has been scrutinizing the affairs of UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Klenert.

Klenert admitted yesterday that $57,000 of union funds was used to help pay for homes in a fashionable Washington suburb for both himself and Valente. He denied there was anything improper about the deal.

But Eric G. Jansson, a Washington certified public accountant, testified he resigned as the union's auditor because he twice was given false stories about the 1952 home buying deal. Jansson termed the transactions "questionable to say the least."

Action Not Indicated.

There was no indication the UTW executive council would consider any action against either Valente or Klenert in its closed-door huddle, or place any drastic curbs on Valente's power to fire and fix the salaries of council members.

Valente told reporters the council, composed of himself, Klenert and 20 union vice presidents, will "review the situation." He said a union subcommittee has been considering possible rules changes to place tighter safeguards on the handling of union funds, which the rackets committee contends its inquiry will show have been "misused and misappropriated."

Valente said he personally thought no change is needed in the rules but that others do, and are seeking adoption of rules "patterned after the new AFL-CIO ethical practices code."

Klenert, under prodding by the Senate committee, has pledged himself to back a proposal to bar the loaning of union funds to union officers.

Deal Hid 'Slush' Fund.

Klenert swore in Senate hearings that he and Valente used union money to buy their homes only as a device to conceal from a dissident union faction what he said was a "slush fund" raised by the union for an organizational drive."

He and Valente had $17,500 annual stipends from the UTW at that time. Their salaries were $7500 each, but they had $10,000 expense accounts.

Klenert denied that some complex dealings in cashier's checks represented a use of union funds to pay for air-conditioning his new house and Valente's, or for the purchase of a grand piano and a television set for his use.

When asked about the piano, Klenert at first seemed to know very little about it. He said: "My lady seen something like that she wanted." Then he was able to recall he had drawn $2000 out of a bank and he and his wife had enough extra cash between them, he said, to pay the full price.

Pocketful of Money.

At one point in mid-June, 1952, Klenert said, he had a pocketful of money amounting to about $10,000, some the union's, some his, and some Valente's. That was the day he went downtown to buy the air-conditioning equipment.

Jansson testified he quit as auditor after Valente and Klenert first gave him a sworn statement that the $57,000 had been used for "special organization" purposes, then produced a letter from the Mutual Title Co. here inclosing a $57,000 check and stating that the money had been left with that firm for months as a deposit for possible purchase of a new headquarters building for the union.

Jansson said he later learned that both versions were false—that the two officers had used the $57,000 in partial payment for their homes and that he then "withdrew" as the union auditor "because of the situation which was questionable to say the least."

Martin Quigley, president of Mutual Title Co., said he had written the letter which represented the $57,000 as having been on deposit in a deal to buy a union headquarters. He said he really had received the money only the night before to make up for $57,000 Valente and Klenert had given him previously to buy their homes.

Admits 'Indiscretion.'

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told Quigley that anyone who handles "funds he knows have been stolen is responsible." He told the witness that if there was "misuse and misapplication" in this instance "you were certainly a part of it."

"I will admit I was indiscreet," Quigley said, but insisted that what he wrote had been true "in substance."

AFL-CIO president George Meany is to testify Monday on investigations he had ordered into the home buying when he learned of it in 1952. Meany, who then was AFL secretary-treasurer, long has been a critic of Valente's administration of the union.

Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep.), Arizona, said under the UTW constitution Valente and Klenert were authorized to spend the union's money in any way they thought wise. Under those provisions, Goldwater said they could buy homes for themselves without in any way violating union rules.

Goldwater said this was typical of "loose" rules in many unions for handling funds and allowed "a few union officers to exercise absolute power in paying out members' funds."

Al Hayes, chairman of the AFL - CIO Ethical Practices Committee, sat in the audience during Klenert's testimony. Hayes was accompanied by his attorney.

Hagerty Says He Doesn't Think President's Planes Are a Luxury

Asserts They Are Part of Eisenhower's 'Transportation System'—Doesn't Know Cost of Operation.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) — James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary said yesterday he does not consider two twin-engine planes and two helicopters acquired by President Eisenhower as "a symbol of needless luxury."

The matter came up at a Hagerty press conference. Peter Kumpa, correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, told Hagerty he recalled that in April 1953 — shortly after Mr. Eisenhower took office—Hagerty announced that Mr. Eisenhower was having the presidential yacht Williamsburg put "in mothballs" because it was "a symbol of needless luxury."

Kumpa said there were estimates at the time that laying up the Williamsburg would save $75,000 a year.

He asked whether Hagerty regarded two twin-engine planes and two helicopters asquired by the Air Force for the White House as "needless luxuries."

"No, I do not," Hagerty said, adding that the aircraft "are part of the transportation system of the President."

The two Aero Commanders were obtained for use by the President and accompanying Secret Service agents more than a year ago. The Pentagon figured the cost at $72,000 each.

The two helicopters — also used by Mr. Eisenhower and Secret Service men—were purchased earlier this year and were used for the first time last weekend when the President took part in the annual civil defense Operation Alert. He flew from the White House grounds to a secret command post within 200 miles of Washington, then traveled back to Washington.

Testimony before a congressional committee recently brought out that the total cost of the two helicopters, plus spare parts, was $20,000. Hagerty said he does not know what it costs to maintain and operate the planes and helicopters.

NAVY PLANE MISSING WITH 12 MEN ABOARD

Army Units, Alpinists Hunt Wreckage in Italian Mountains.

MILAN, Italy, July 20 (AP)— A United States Navy transport plane vanished yesterday on a flight with 12 men from Casablanca, Morocco, to Treviso airport, near Venice. The Navy expressed fear today the plane crashed in the mountains of north Italy.

The transport, a twin-engine PV-2, took off from Casablanca at 6 a.m. yesterday and was due to complete the 1400-mile flight at noon.

There has been no word of it since the takeoff and rainstorms over north Italy have stalled search and rescue operations, a Navy informant said. The names of the crewmen and passengers were not disclosed.

Two Italian search planes from the air rescue service at Milan searched the route of the plane last evening without finding any sign of wreckage. No further flights have been possible.

Eight American aircraft stood by at Aviano airfield to start a search as soon as weather conditions improved and the Italian army alerted reconnaissance planes and helicopters of three brigades to be ready to join in.

Italian army Alpine units also were ordered out, along with volunteer groups from the Alpine climbing clubs.

The PV-2 is a general purpose plane, used for long range patrols, mail carrying and general transport work. The basic crew is four or five men.

FRENCH RED LEADER DUCLOS LEAVES PARIS FOR MOSCOW

PARIS, July 20 (AP)—Jacques Duclos, secretary general of the Stalinist French Communist party, left today by air for Moscow.

Red party chiefs of Bulgaria and Albania, two other parties little affected by de-Stalinization, are now in the Soviet capital for "reconciliation" talks with two visiting Yugoslav vice presidents, Alexander Rankovic and Edvard Kardelj.

Duclos's trip may be connected with those Moscow talks. The French Communist party has long carried on a feud with the Yugoslav Communists. Earlier, the newspaper France-Soir said Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and Premier Janos Kadar of Hungary also are in Moscow. The paper, in a dispatch from Belgrade, attributed its information to "reliable" Yugoslav sources.

3 KILLED IN CRASH OF PLANE IN ILLINOIS

Pilot, 2 Women Passengers Victims of Accident Near Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 20 (AP)—A man and two women were killed last night when their light plane crashed in a cornfield about nine miles northwest of Springfield.

Dead were Mrs. Nadine Rossi Downing, 23 years old, and Miss Norma Jean Norris, 26, formerly of Greenfield, both employed in the ticket office and reservations department of Ozark Air Lines in Springfield, and Ernest Antonacci, 50, the pilot, operator of a Springfield taxicab service.

The crash occurred about 10 minutes after the plane had taken off from Capitol Airport, at Springfield.

(Mrs. Antonacci was quoted by International News Service as saying her husband passed up seeing a movie with her to keep a promise he had made to two girls to give then an airplane ride "sometime.")

James Ellenberg, who resides on a farm near the scene of the accident, said the plane, a four - place Cessna 182, "sounded like it was having motor trouble" just before it crashed.

Other observers said the plane circled over the area, then came in low, missed a fence at the south edge of the cornfield, after which the propeller struck the ground. Civil Aeronautics Administration officials planned an investigation of the crash later today.

ROBBER WHO HELD UP BANK SHOT TO DEATH BY FBI AGENT

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP) —A man held up a branch of the National Bank of Washington yesterday and then was shot to death by an FBI agent about two hours later.

The man identified by fingerprints as Claude Bruce Collins, a Negro, obtained $6100 when he pointed a pistol at a woman teller and handed her a note which read: "Your money or your life."

The money was still on his person when he was felled not far from the bank by three bullets from the pistol of FBI agent Robert H. Kurtzman.

PARIS-BOUND PLANE TURNS BACK, SEARCHED FOR BOMB

SYDNEY, N.S., July 20 (AP) —An Air France airliner with 53 passengers bound for Paris turned back last night to Sydney Airport, where firemen and airline officials searched the plane for a possible bomb.

The aircraft was cleared for takeoff again after about two hours.

A similar bomb scare caused three Air France planes to turn back Thursday night after taking off from New York.

GAINS CLAIMED FOR KHRUSHCHEV INDUSTRY PLAN

Moscow Radio Says Increase in Production Vindicates Decentralization.

LONDON, July 20 (AP) — Moscow radio said today Russia's industrial output in the first half of 1957 has risen 10 per cent above last year's figure. It credited Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev's industrial decentralization plan for the boost.

The broadcast reported similiar increases in food production—another of Khrushchev's goals.

Quoting an editorial in the Communist party organ Pravda, the broadcast said the report by the Central Statistical Board justified the recent purge of V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov. The four Soviet leaders opposed Krushchev's decentralization plan which was put into effect only last May.

The broadcast said the Soviet Union's industrial target to date in 1957 has been fulfilled 104 per cent. The announcement did not list one target that had not been reached in the first six months of 1957.

The broadcast gave no actual production figures.

Moscow said the number of factory and office workers had increased by 2,100,000 persons over 1956. No total was given.

"Average earnings of factory and office workers went up 5 per cent," the announcement continued. "Pension allowances have been considerably increased and more than 17,000,000 persons now receive government pensions."

The broadcast said the Soviet Union has 5,300,000 more pigs and 3,000,000 more cattle than in the first half of 1956.

"Production of meat went up 30 per cent and that of milk 20 per cent," the broadcast said.

The Russian grain crop acreage increased by 3,705,000 acres over last year.

"Owing to growing cash incomes of factory and office workers and peasants, total deposits in savings banks have gone up by more than 9 billion rubles," said the broadcast. The ruble is pegged at 4 to $1.

Moscow said foreign trade expanded 18 per cent over the same six-month period, mainly with Communist countries and India, Egypt and Finland.

LITTLE SYMPHONY, HORENSTEIN LYRICAL

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

In the fifth Little Symphony concert of the season, presented last night in Washington University Quadrangle, Jascha Horenstein and the orchestra offered a program of a high and refreshing quality. The Schubert Symphony No. 5 in B Flat which has always been a prime favorite with Little Symphony audiences proved to be as beguiling as ever and what preceded and followed it was almost equally rich in lyrical content.

The only piece on the program that was not immediately accessible was Alexander Tansman's "Tombeau de Chopin." Tansman was not too successful in combinging his own personality with that of the composer he sought to honor. His mixture, though not extreme as an example of contemporary writing, was lacking in apt allusions. But if the essence of Chopin was neither captured nor suggested, the work was still an interesting one and with a certain delicacy and reflectiveness of its own.

The concert began with a Symphony in C Major by Luigi Boccherini, a pleasant work in a generalized Eighteenth Century style, included three excerpts from the charming "Cephale and Procis" Ballet Suite of Andre Gretry as arranged by Felix Mottl, and was brought to a close by the Vaughan Williams "English Folk Song Suite."

The last named work was arranged for orchestra by Gordon Jacob. It was unusually successful in expanding and giving variety to the material without making it sound too sophisticated.

The performances were more distinguished for tone quality than for precision. Certainly a crisper articulation and a little more finish in detail would have helped matters. The playing, however, was well balanced, well blended and projection was such as to permit a full and effective range of volume.

The sixth and final concert of the season will be played next Friday with Jascha Horenstein.

SECRETARIES TOLD OF NEED FOR PROFESSIONAL TRAITS

Secretarial work is not yet considered a profession by the public, Karl D. Klein, personnel development manager of Chemstrand Corp., said last night at Hotel Sheraton-Jefferson.

Klein, in citing the difference between an occupation and a profession at the annual banquet of certified professional secretaries, said that a profession must make major contributions to society. Certified secretaries themselves must create such contributions and continue doing so, he said.

The convention of the National Secretaries Association ends this evening.

Church Leaders Are Told Asia Feels West Betrays Own Values

© New York Times News Service

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 20 —The reconversion of the West to its own liberal and Christian traditions was cited here this week as a missionary challenge as great as any presented by Communism or non-Christian faiths.

Prof. Chandran Devanesen of Madras, India, told a group of world church leaders that this reconversion would give the West a firmer moral basis for exercising its power and would greatly assist the renewal of the world-wide church. He spoke at the opening session of the World Council of Churches' consultation on "The Renewal of the Church."

"If Communism and the resurgence of ancient religions and cultures present new challenges to the church, so does the apostasy of the West whenever it betrays its own Christian and liberal traditions," said Devanesen, who is professor of history and political science at Madras Christian College in India.

He said that Asian critics of the West were concerned with the West's betrayal of its own values. The West was inclined to see such criticism as hostile reactions to its own traditions, rather than as reactions arising from "the perversion of Western values by the West itself," he said.

Tied to Renewal.

Devanesen said that his comments on the liberal democracy of the West did not mean that he did not have any criticism of Communism, but that he was convinced that the renewal of the church was bound up with the "moral and spiritual readiness of the West for change."

The churches of the country should not stay aloof from politics or from any other controversy—including segregation—where human rights were involved, a leading churchwoman told another session. She said that politicians were only too eager to have the church "stick to saving souls."

The "church should be the church" and identify itself in any situation where human and civil rights are concerned, declared Mrs. Frederick Patterson, vice president of the United Church Women, who gave the lay persons' attitude on the church's role in the world today. She said that one of the cardinal sins of religion in the United States today was "worship without sacrifice."

Average churchgoers do not risk anything by their church attendance, she noted. They should speak out forcefully for principles and causes in which they believe, she said. The churches have failed to meet the challenge of racial integration, said Mrs. Patterson, who is a Southern Baptist from Atlanta, Ga.

'Lag Through Fear.'

"The church struggled with the question (desegregation) for years, but instead of being ready to lead in solving it, it has lagged, and often through fear," she said.

"When violence has broken out, often the voice of the church has been silent and the greater the risk, the greater the silence. It is not just a Southern, but a world problem," she added.

Some 200 church and lay persons were expected to attend sessions being held this week at the Yale University divinity school. Dean Walter G. Muelder, of the Boston University school of theology is chairman.

Among scheduled participants were Nathan Pusey, president of Harvard University; Frank P. Graham, United Nations representative for India and Pakistan, and Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel, president of United Church Women.

TEACHING AT MONTREAT

The Rev. Dr. H. Louis Patrick, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Union and Delmar boulevards, is conducting a week-long Bible Hour course at the Women's Training School at Montreat, N.C., ending Wednesday.

St. Louis women attending the training school include Mrs. Robert F. Knight and Mrs. William Brand of Westminster church, and Mrs. C. M. Garner of Central Presbyterian Church, Hanley and Clayton roads.

CITY CHURCHES URGED TO BUILD NO 'COZY CHAPELS'

New churches in growing areas of cities should not "build a cozy chapel, a temporary monstrosity, or a pre-fab church, but a building adaptable to many uses," according to the Rev. Tom Underwood of Kansas City. He is a former pastor of Compton Heights Christian (Disciples) Church, St. Louis.

He is the author of the lead article, "The Building Must Be Right," in the July-August issue of World Call, international magazine of the Disciples of Christ. The cover of the magazine is a photograph of the interior of the new Cherokee Christian Church, Kansas City, of which the Rev. Mr. Underwood is pastor.

The World Call issue also includes an article, "Planning Must Be Right," by the Rev. W. Elbert Starn, executive secretary of the Disciples Council of Greater St. Louis. He deals with the organization of new congregations.

In another article dealing with new church construction, the Rev. Dr. William T. Pearcy of the Board of Church Extension of the Disciples of Christ states that his denomination now is establishing about 50 new churches a year. "All who know the facts say that 100 per year is the bare minimum," he states.

COUNTY CHURCH TO BREAK GROUND FOR NEW BUILDING

Ground-breaking ceremonies for Peace Evangelical and Reformed Church's new building will take place tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Bellefontaine road and Trampe lane in St. Louis county. Construction is to begin immediately on a one-story structure which is to be the first unit of the church.

Sponsored by the Board of National Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, the congregation is two years old. It has been holding services in a hall above a supermarket at 12204 Bellefontaine road. The Rev. Ernest W. Luehrman is pastor.

The summer assembly grounds of the Methodist Church at Lake Junaluska, N. C., will be the scene on July 30-31, of a nine-state celebration of the 250th anniversary of the birth of the Rev. Charles Wesley. He was the author of some 6500 hymns, and with his brother, the Rev. John Wesley, was co-founder of the Methodist Church.

Many of the Charles Wesley hyms are still used. They include "Jesus, Lover of My Soul;" "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing;" "Christ, the Lord, Is Risen Today"; "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing"; "A Charge to Keep I Have," and "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Price Spiral Dodge

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The efforts of the Administration to stop inflation by "tight money" have not succeeded, and there is a strong tendency to blame the wage increases obtained by organized labor for that negative result. The companies that pay the increased wages promptly raise prices when wages are raised, and blame the increased pay.

But there are several things to remember before blaming the workers. Direct labor costs are very seldom any more than 40 per cent of all costs, and are usually nearer to one-third. So if labor gets a 10 per cent rise in pay, a 4 per cent rise in price is ample to cover their increased costs. Yet the companies usually make a 10 per cent increase in price and blame it on the union.

When they do that they are either blaming the union involved for increases in price caused by increases in their other costs, including the increase in costs due directly to the Eisenhower Administration's tight money policy, or they are using the wage increase to increase profits that are ordinarily already substantial.

The second thing that should give us pause is that spokesmen for many big companies are now openly using the argument that they need to increase prices and therefore profits in order to have funds to increase their plant facilities and capital equipment.

What this means is that the buyers of the product are asked to finance an increase in the productive capacity of an industry by paying higher prices. But though they pay for increased capital equipment, they do not own it. The stockholders of the company own it.

This is clearly unfair, and likewise contrary to ordinary economic theory. It is usually expected that if a company wants to increase its capital, it sells more stocks and bonds to its stockholders or the public. They pay for it, and they get the company's securities as evidence of their ownership of it in return. But when plant expansion is financed by higher prices, the consumers pay for it but do not get their proportionate share in ownership of the company in return. A. B. L.

Concern in Belleville

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Could you get the Scott Field "brass" to explain the difference between 2000 and 12,000? It is these 12,000 students we should fight to retain. For the most part, they are married and renting apartments in which Bellevillians have invested heavily to make attractive.

Everything about the "exchange" sounds so convincing when you read what the Air Force spokesman says. But get the true facts if you can, which I know is well nigh impossible, because they tell you only what they want you to know.

This is a typical Katy deal, and as underhanded as they come.

BELLEVILLE CITIZEN.

No 'Clique' in Jordan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your July 7 article by Richard Dudman on Jordan said: "King Hussein succeeded in throwing out a pro-Soviet clique that had been controlling the government." It is true that the Jordanian government was somewhat pro-Soviet, but to characterize it as a "clique" is misleading.

The Nabulsi government had the overwhelming support of the only freely-elected Jordanian Parliament in that country's short history. It was not a clique. It was a freely elected government representing the great majority of the citizens of that country. King Hussein has been able to rule since his coup only under a military government.

The important point is that the American press is doing a great disservice to the American public by failing to report adequately the strength and depth of Arab national feeling. Free elections in Syria, Egypt, Jordan and, probably, Iraq would show an overwhelming desire of these peoples to turn toward the Soviet Union for moral and material aid in their efforts to modernize themselves and their institutions to achieve their aims of unity and political equality with the great powers.

The turning to Soviet Russia has little to do with Communism. It has a great deal to do with the fact that the United States Government has failed to give moral or material support to Arab aims. Indeed, in Palestine and Algeria, it violently opposes them.

By failing to report the strength of Arab national feeling, your newspaper keeps American opinion from the fact that our present policies toward the Arab world will continue to drive that vast and important area into Russia's arms.

WILLIAM PERSEN.

Two Visits

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

About 10 years ago on a transcontinental trip I spent some time in St. Louis. I carried away one impression: that St. Louis was antiquated as far as traffic signals were concerned, and that I was lucky not to have been killed by a car while there.

Now, in 1957, I spent some time in the city again and am shocked to find it very much the same.

This is disgraceful and your city fathers can truly be ashamed that a city of this size can be as unprogressive in regard to simple street crossings and traffic signals as this.

When the city of St. Louis finally installs traffic lights, I may visit again. MRS. S. J. SINGER JR.

Setback on Trade

Action of the House Ways and Means Committee in shelving the Administration's OTC bill for the second time may well mean that the entire reciprocal trade agreement policy is in danger.

The reciprocal trade act expires June 30 next year. The success of the protectionist lobby in stalling the relatively mild measure to make the United States a member of the Organization for Trade Co-operation, which is to administer the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), suggests that the underlying legislation for reciprocal tariff reduction, in effect since the early 30's, will face a rougher than usual renewal fight next year.

The act has been renewed so many times—though on some occasions only with crippling amendments—that many advocates of liberal trade policies have come to take it for granted. But as the New York Journal of Commerce has warned, renewal in 1958 can be defeated—and "that is very likely to happen if the Administration does not once again grasp the initiative, and having grasped it, keep it."

Flabby leadership from the Administration is undoubtedly responsible for the OTC fiasco. Last year the House Ways and Means Committee approved the bill by a vote of 17 to 7, with six of the seven opposition votes coming from Republicans. There is little doubt that the Democrats with some Republican help could have voted the bill out of Committee this year. But the Democrats warned the White House many weeks ago that they would not again carry the ball in committee unless the Administration did something to win over Republican votes for OTC in the House proper.

This warning undoubtedly reflected in part the rising protectionist sentiment among Southern Democrats who used to be ardent "free traders." The Democratic leadership declined to stir up the protectionists on that side of the aisle unless the Administration did the same on the Republican side. On the whole, however, this attitude was justified in view of last year's record. For it was Republican opposition then that blocked the bill after the Democrats had committed themselves to it.

The loss of OTC is discouraging but not fatal. The reciprocal trade program continues, GATT continues. But next year the fight over the renewal of the reciprocal trade act will be for keeps. Unless President Eisenhower learns by then that it is not enough to issue pious homilies in favor of liberal international trade, that policy may receive a severe setback.

Who can persuade the President that, on trade policy as on everything else, political leadership demands active and vigorous effort which only he can supply?

County Taxes and Reform

St. Louis county voters might be reasonable about the 9-cent tax rise that the Council has tentatively adopted if that body were moving aggressively toward reform of the unwieldy and expensive county government. So far, unhappily, the Republican-controlled Council has exhibited only a mild interest in reform.

The trouble with the county government is that all of its major administrative offices are in the hands of independently-elected officials taking orders from no one. Their principal aim is continuing in office through expanded personal patronage. Most of them are Republicans, although last November Democrats wrested several offices from G.O.P. control, including that of the Highway Engineer who is asking for four cents of the 9-cent tax increase. Republican Councilman Martini, not unnaturally, has been critical of the Democratic Engineer's fund request.

What the county needs is a major overhaul of its administrative machinery for more efficient operation. There is no Republican or Democratic way to engineer highways, for example, and it is preposterous that the Highway Engineer's job must be put on the political block every four years. Until this and the other administrative offices are made appointive on the basis of merit, the cost of county government will continue to be greater than necessary.

The Governmental Research Institute has urged the Council to create a single department of revenue by abolishing the independent elective offices of Assessor and Collector. This would require amendment of the County Charter, as would other changes involving the Highway Engineer, County Clerk and similar administrative officers.

If the Council finds it necessary to present taxpayers with increased tax bills this fall, it is under a companion obligation to speed the way toward Charter changes that will provide for efficient spending of county tax revenues.

Ever on the alert for those who lack a proper respect for U. S. of A. money, the Secret Service swooped down on an Arlington, Va., dry cleaner who was displaying a facsimile of sorts of an old dollar-bill. Since the "counterfeit" happened to be a wooly rug, three feet wide and six feet long, it hardly could be slipped to even the most careless cashier; so the Secret Service men might even be considered a bit overzealous.

Yet we are glad that they descended on the cleaning shop in all their authority. They gave the owner, obviously a man who might have been an honor to the American bar, the opportunity to establish another of those nuances which shape the law to human needs. When the Government men demanded the name of the owner of the dollar-rug, he refused the information, declaring that the relationship between a dry cleaner and his clients is sacred.

Thus are civil rights clarified and extended.

Only the Money to Borrow

What may be regarded as the next to the last major step toward realization of the Plaza apartment project has been taken. The Federal Urban Renewal Administration has given final approval to the development. This clears the way for the signing of a contract, already authorized by the Board of Aldermen, between the city and the privately financed St. Louis Urban Redevelopment Corporation.

The remaining major step is the financing of the construction on terms which will allow 90 per cent insurance by the Federal Housing Authority. Here the time lost in bringing matters to their final stage may well be costly. As Russell E. Gardner, head of the redevelopment group, says: "When we started this project five years ago we could have borrowed the money at 3 per cent interest or even 2¾ per cent. Rates now range between 4½ and 6 per cent." Lost time, however, cannot be recovered; and it is to be hoped that the Government's virtual guarantee against loss will make mortgage money available at a favorable rate.

Other minor details still are to be worked out, but all the papers should be signed by early fall, and work really should get under way no later than next spring. And with this face-lifting operation under way, St. Louis will be able to give its undivided attention to the riverfront.

Nonpolitical City Courts

Two substantial reforms in the St. Louis municipal court system would flow from adoption of the proposed new City Charter on Aug. 6. First, the new Charter would take the courts out of politics. Second, it would greatly reduce the possibilities of "conflicts of interest" arising out of their operation.

Under the present outmoded Charter, judges of the City Court (police court) are patronage appointees of the Mayor. They usually are selected not so much for their ability or judicial temperament as for what they have done to help the Mayor win election. The new Charter would put an end to the spoils system in the courts. The guiding principle in the selection of judges as well as of the City Marshal and the City Court Clerk would be merit, not political regularity.

The Marshal and the Clerk, servants of the court, would be put under the municipal merit system where they certainly belong. The judges would be nominated by a Charter-created Nonpartisan Judicial Commission modeled after Missouri's nonpartisan court plan.

Members of the Judicial Commission would be the Presiding Judge of the St. Louis Circuit Court, a lawyer appointed by the Circuit Court judges and a non-lawyer appointed by the Mayor. Whenever a vacancy occurred on the City Court bench, the Commission would submit a list of three nominees to the Mayor. He would be required to appoint one of the three.

The new Charter also requires that "each judge shall devote full time to the duties of his office and shall not engage in the private practice of law." The job now is considered part-time and the judges are free to practice law in their free time. This is an unwholesome situation, containing as it does real dangers of conflicts of interest between a judge's responsibilities in the courtroom and those growing out of his relation to his clients. The proposed prohibition against judges practicing law on the side is clearly in the public interest.

A change that would simplify the internal workings of the court also is provided in the new Charter. At present the City Court has two divisions, one having jurisdiction over the south side of the city and the other over the north. The judges must divide their work on the basis of geography rather than the type of case. The new Charter gives each division city-wide jurisdiction. This ought to permit a more orderly division of the work load for greater efficiency and perhaps greater justice.

Integration in Arkansas

While Arkansas is aligned with the Deep South in the fight against civil rights legislation in Washington, the state is definitely not part of the Deep South in its approach to public school integregation. Arkansas is approaching integration with gradualism and caution, but it is approaching the issue.

Arkansas' three largest cities will begin gradual desegregation of public schools next fall. The Fort Smith school board has voted to begin desegregation by enrolling about 12 Negro children in the first grade next fall, without reference to race. Each succeeding first grade class will then be integrated until the process is complete for all 12 grades.

Little Rock is approaching integration from the top grade rather than from the bottom. That is, the city's plan, as approved by federal courts, calls for integration first in the high schools. Van Buren, in response to a court order, plans a similar move in September. North Little Rock also has a high school integration plan ready for the fall term.

Before this year, five Arkansas school districts had desegregated either totally or in part: Fayetteville, Charleston, Hoxie, Bentonville and Hot Springs.

The Arkansas experience is certainly far from satisfying champions of speedy integration; neither does it please the segregationists in the state. But the fact remains that in this undeniably Southern state integration is moving ahead slowly and sometimes almost tentatively—but still ahead.

Partition Is Not Solution

Apparently the British Government is near the point of exhaustion in its search for a solution to the long irksome problem of the island of Cyprus. Only utter frustration could drive London to contemplating partition of the island.

Eighty per cent of the Cypriots are of Greek extraction and they have shown that they will accept nothing less than union with Greece. The remaining 20 per cent are almost all Turks and they have made plain that they will not tolerate union with Greece. Both sides frequently have indulged in violence and even killings. How well they would get along together on a relatively small island divided by partition is highly debatable.

Within the last 50 years partition has been used in approaching the problems of six countries. It has created Ireland and Eire, India and Pakistan, North and South Viet Nam, North and South Korea, East and West Germany, and Israel. In most of these instances the troubles of the split nations have remained far from settled. Partition might bring peace temporarily to Cyprus but usually it is a substitute for the political settlement needed for permanent tranquility.

Still Better Than Nothing

Senate anti-trust investigators recently heard some impressive testimony from J. K. Galbraith, professor of economics at Harvard University, about the uneven impact of Government credit restraints.

The most briskly competitive sectors of the economy are particularly hit, he said, but industries where price competition is at a minimum feel the effects much less or not at all. Where prices are "administered," the higher cost of tight money, like all other higher costs, can be easily passed on to the public. Tight money, therefore, offers little restraint to inflationary influences in these industries.

Senators and congressmen who criticize the tight money policies will cheer these remarks and probably overlook the fact that the remedy lies, not in less credit restraint, but in more. Professor Galbraith's recommendations for fighting inflation include one that credit restrictions shall apply "across the board" to big companies and small, in fully-competitive and less-competitive industries.

And there's the rub. With all their shortcomings as anti-inflationary weapons, credit restraints nevertheless are better than nothing, and the alternatives to them are politically even less attractive. So long as inflation remains a danger, it would be folly to destroy the "tight money" policy unless a stronger and more comprehensive brake on inflation were ready to take its place.

COMPLIMENTS OF THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN

What Schools Would Virginia Close?

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Editorial reveals absurdity of Virginia plan to avoid public school integration; part of plan is pupil placement law just ruled invalid by federal appeals court; plan could lead to closing white schools while continuing state aid to others.

From The Virginian-Pilot, Norfolk

The Norfolk campaign for the House of Delegates has had at least one healthy result. Candidates White, Ford, and Hagan have apparently encountered the fact that most Norfolk people don't want their public schools shut down. That may explain why in recent days they have frequently asserted that the Stanley plan laws would close "only the particular school affected" and then "only temporarily."

The shut-down-the-schools feature of the Stanley plan has begun to embarrass the chief proponents of the Stanley plan in Norfolk. They rarely, if ever, mention the heart of the plan: Chapter 71, Item 43, of the Acts of the General Assembly of 1956.

This act spells the plan out. If one Negro child is permitted by a court order to enter one white elementary public school in Norfolk, state funds shall be cut off from the entire elementary public school system in Norfolk. If one Negro child is permitted by court order to enter one white high school in Norfolk, state funds shall be cut off from the entire secondary public school system in Norfolk.

What is the basis, then, for the assertion that the laws embodied in the Stanley plan would close only an affected school and then "only temporarily"? If the assertion has any basis, it rests on what is now Chapter 68 of the acts of the special session. Although this act reads like a tough, pro-segregation measure, a careful reading shows that it has an unusual effect. If the wordy act has any meaning at all (and that is a question), it could be entitled correctly: "An Act to Close Down White Schools, One by One, While Leaving the Colored Schools Open."

Chapter 68 is a long outpouring of words. But for those who are curious enough to know what the act really says the effort will be worth the trouble. In this act, "the Commonwealth of Virginia assumes direct responsibility for the control of any school" to which children of both races are assigned, either voluntarily or as a result of a court order.

The school is withdrawn from the public school system, and the control of the school "is hereby vested in the Commonwealth of Virginia to be exercised by the Governor of Virginia in whom reposes the chief executive power of the state." The school is automatically closed until or unless the Governor finds some way to reopen it on a segregated basis. As explained in the General Assembly, the Governor is expected to come to Norfolk and try to persuade the child, his parents, and the N.A.A.C.P. to drop the whole matter.

If he fails to do this, the Governor "is given authority to reorganize the school, its personnel, curriculum, and facilities." He is given the power to reassign the children and teachers to other schools in the system. He is given the power to make tuition grants available.

If the school "cannot be reopened or reorganized and reopened" as a segregated school, it returns to the system and thereby renders the whole system "not efficient" and not eligible for state funds.

In estimating the effect of Chapter 68, several probabilities should be considered. It is highly improbable that just one school in Norfolk would be affected by a court order. Superintendent of Schools Brewbaker has testified that 13 schools in the Norfolk systems appear to be affected, to some extent, by the Supreme Court's decision. If there is no local assignment plan in effect (the kind of plan Messrs. White, Ford, and Hagan oppose) to reduce the impact, there will certainly be 13 schools in Norfolk for the Governor to take charge of and close down.

With 13 schools closed in Norfolk and under the Governor's jurisdiction, the school board and City Council would be in a fix. The remaining public schools could not absorb the pupils from the 13 closed schools. There aren't enough private schools in Norfolk to absorb even a small fraction of the pupils barred from 13 schools. The tuition payment formula would not be enough to pay standard private school fees even if, by some miracle, fine private schools sprang up overnight.

But if the local authorities moved to return the 13 closed schools to the public school systems, the entire elementary and secondary systems would return to the Stanley fund-cutting machine and have their state financing cut off.

The most curious aspect of Chapter 68, on which Messrs. White, Ford, and Hagan rely to minimize school closing, continues to be this: If the act works, the white school systems in Norfolk would be in a state of chaos while the colored school systems would operate as before with state funds.

The Proper Use of the Hand Fan

Bill Ferguson in The Gladden (Ia.) Graphic

Recently we have been gathering data on a very important and complicated study . . . an analysis of "the most efficient use of the hand fan in America." Well, at the reception in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Hughes, we had an excellent opportunity to study the various fanning procedures. We are now ready to classify the fanners.

1. The New York Type—This person grips the fan tightly and waves it back and forth in front of his (or her) face in short, quick strokes. We call this type the New Yorker, because that's the way New Yorkers are supposed to walk . . . always in a hurry. Stirs up quite a breeze but it's tiring.

2. The Southern Type—This individual uses a lighter grip on the fan, and stirs the breeze in slow, undulating, lazy looking strokes. The stroke usually is much longer than that used by Type 1, and the breeze is much more likely to be felt by the fanner's neighbors.

3. The California Type—This individual starts the stroke about two feet away and directly in front of his face. He then makes a motion as if he were going to hit himself in the face, but at the last moment ducks his fan hand down, so that the top of the fan strikes him somewhere in the vicinity of the adam's apple or the second chin. (Called the California type, because it's someone who wants to do things just a little bit differently.)

4. The Specialist Type—This is the person who turns her head first to the left and fans her right ear, then turns to the right and fans the left ear, then after a few strokes directly in the face, this fanner, who is usually a woman, will likely lift her hair and fan the back of her neck.

We have come to the conclusion that fanning oneself is in the same category as opening the refrigerator door to cool the kitchen. Slightly more heat is generated by the exercise of fanning than is dissipated by the breeze created.

However, after experimentation we have discovered one very efficient method of utilizing the hand fan. That is to use two fans, one each in the hand of a person seated on each side of you. Then if you have carefully chosen the Southern Type to sit next to, just sit there and relax!

Our Mixed-Up Economy

THE POLITICS OF INDUSTRY, by Walton Hamilton. (Knopf, 169 pgs., $3.50.)

The versatile author of this highly readable book of lectures is a philosopher, economist, and lawyer, facile with tongue and pen. He dissects America's "mixed economy" and finds that it is not a system wherein public and private enterprise each has its own well-defined sphere. It is "mixed," instead, because the private industry which composes most of it is at once an informal government. Private control in comparatively few hands (despite the anti-trust laws), supported by a system of public sanctions and subsidies, tends to shape our lives. "Private enterprise" traditionally is run for profit, and its managers therefore feel that their primary obligation is to the stockholders. The impact of corporate policy, however, falls heavily on other groups than stockholders: labor, farmers, consumers, everybody. Thus the political problem, Mr. Hamilton says, "is to make sure that the corporation . . . will adequately serve all of the interests dependent upon it."

Walton Hamilton

The publisher's blurb calls this a "radical" book, but it is so only in the sense that it seeks the roots. In common parlance, it would be "radical" only in the atmosphere of 1927—an atmosphere which may, indeed, be creeping onto us again after nearly 30 years of well-deserved repose. Mr. Hamilton is not radical, but critical, and to his searching criticism he brings wit, wisdom, and felicity of phrase. In some ways, indeed, he is not even modern. He scoffs a bit at the effort of the modern social scientists to observe, deduce, and embody verified truth in scientific theory. Such theory, he implies, must be either so general as to be useless, or so riddled with exceptions as to be meaningless. For, he insists, there is no uniformity in our industrial culture; the "variables" are endless, and they proliferate daily.

As for the economists, the modern theory of "countervailing power" impresses Mr. Hamilton so little that he misnames it and dismisses it in a sentence. And to answer his central question of how the corporation can be required to serve the public as well as the private interest, he urges only that somehow—somehow—true competition be restored. He would not go back to laissez-faire. He is well aware of the shortcomings of the anti-monopoly statutes. Yet the rumble of the trust-busters of half a century ago echoes in his pages.

THOMAS H. ELIOT.

Close to the Reality

PROUST, by Samuel Beckett. (Grove, 72 pgs., $1 paper; $2.50 cloth.)

There is no allusion in this book to the legendary life and death of Marcel Proust, or to the garrulous old dowager of the Letters, or to the poet, or to the correlative of a "beautiful bottle of soda-water," Samuel Beckett announces with truculence in his foreword to this critical essay.

The implication is clear that Beckett thinks he is going to reveal "the real Proust." While a Proustian would deny that essential reality can be attained by conscious effort, he would find that Beckett has come uncommonly close to hitting upon it.

Clearly and succinctly Beckett traces Proust's descent into mystic reality with time, his guide and enemy. A reader without prior acquaintance with Proust, if willing to strain a bit, can come to understand how Proust arrived at his belief that by understanding the essence of things one can transcend time.

In form as well as content Beckett has succeeded in capsuling the 3000 pages of "The Remembrance of Things Past."

Mrs. Conant Beats Mrs. Mitchell, 2 and 1

Her Power Shots Win Golf Title

By Robert Morrison

St. Louis has a new women's golf champion today and she is strictly in the modern mode—lots of power.

Mrs. George K. Conant Jr. of St. Louis Country Club captured the title yesterday with a 2-and-1 victory over Norwood's fairway-wise Mrs. Dave Mitchell.

It was a hard-working triumph for the 30-year-old mother of four, who was struck by the tournament golf idea only three years ago, but it was a victory earned from tee to green.

There were times when Mrs. Conant didn't make the classic shot. But when she made a mistake or a poor hit, she had the power to recover. And she won in spite of five three-putt greens in the 35 holes.

Battle by Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell, wife of the one-time National Public Links champion, three times a finalist in this women's championship, was playing remarkable comeback golf despite a bursitis condition that practically knocked her out for two seasons.

But Mrs. Mitchell's tenacious, deliberate play—that even improved toward the end of the match where physical energy should have been making a larger difference between the players—fell just short.

Mrs. Conant was four over par with 79 and even with her opponent in the morning round, during which she three-putted four times. In the afternoon the new champion was five over women's par.

As it turned out, that was good enough. She had done better, scoringwise, during the week, but she hadn't had the same sort of tough competition that faced her in the final of this forty-second annual Women's District championship.

All square after the first 18 holes and still even after the twenty-first, Mrs. Conant had won four successive holes to go 3 up at the twenty-fourth in the match that turned out to be so close.

There, at the twenty-fourth (No. 6), St. Louis Country Club pro Dave Douglas put the finger on the difference between the two players. Mrs. Conant and Mrs. Mitchell each had hit good drives on that 400-yard hole. But for second shots, Mrs. Mitchell hit a wood shot with all she had and still was short of the green, while Mrs. Conant hit an iron and was hole high and just off the green to the left.

"There's the difference," said Douglas, who recalled that only a couple of weeks ago Mrs. Conant had played the blue tees at St. Louis Country Club and had scored a 72.

Three Up at Last Turn.

Mrs. Conant got her birdie 4 to go 3 up at the twenty-fourth hole (No. 6), and though she lost the next hole, she won the twenty-sixth (No. 8) and was three up at the last turn.

She hardly had made a putt all day. She had taken 37 putts in the morning round. And her putter was still a reason for ulcers—until she holed out a 10-footer to go 2 up again at the thirteenth.

The putting blade stood by her as she sank a five-footer for a half at No. 15 to keep a 3-up lead, but it betrayed her again at the sixteenth, that devil of a green at the Norwood west course.

Now 2 up with 2 holes to play, Mrs. Conant missed the green at the thirty-fifth (No. 17). Her tee shot hit a tree at the left and fell in the clear. Mrs. Mitchell was on with her tee shot. But Mrs. Conant chipped to five feet from the pin and when she needed it, her putter delivered. It was good all the way as she scored a 3 to halve the hole and win the match.

Rare Vintage, Pearl Corral In Inaugural

Rare Vintage, recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Triplett at Chicago and Pearl Corral, winner of the Old Glory Handicap at Cahokia, will in all probability be the choices in the $2500 Inaugural Handicap, featuring tonight's opening program at Fairmount Park. The race will be at six furlongs. Post time for the first of nine races is 8:30 o'clock.

The Triplett colorbearer will pack top weight of 117 pounds, in the 10 horse field, while Pearl Corral gets in at 110. Others named to start are Saucy Aire, Calloway K, Ariose 2nd, Herb S, Courser, Butch K, Legate and Who's Joy.

Clarence Meaux, last year's riding champion, is back to defend his title, while Jake Colclasure, who topped the riders at the Cahokia meeting, which closed last night, will be on hand to seek the Collinsville course honors.

A new track record and victories for two odds-on choices featured the final racing program of the season at Cahokia Downs last night.

Deep Sun, a five-year-old, ran the five furlongs in 58 2-5 seconds to clip one-fifth of a second off the track mark held by All Tilly and Pearl Corral. Deep Sun, ridden by Gene Curry, paid $5.80 for $2.

Sunday Star, an also ran in last Saturday's St. Louis Derby, won the one mile sixth race by two and one-half lengths, and paid only $3.40 for $2. Then in the two miles and five-sixteenths ninth race, the longest since night racing was introduced, Broadway Jack won and paid his backers $3.80 for $2.

The double on Floss K and Cock Fight paid $64.00 for $2.

Calhoun Wins From Ballarin

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 20 (AP)—Rory Calhoun won the decision but Germinal Ballarin, a clever Frenchman with a slick mustache, won the crowd.

Many of the 1447 customers who paid $3029 to watch the bitterly contested 10-round nationally televised fight last night thought the Parisian deserved the win or at least a large "E" for effort. However, the men whose judgment is official said Calhoun won unanimously. Referee Joe Palmer had it close 5-4-1, Judge Dick Albino scored it a lopsided 7-2-1 and Judge Harold McGrath saw it 6-3-1. The AP card returned Calhoun a razor thin winner 5-4-1.

Calhoun, the 3 to 1 favorite, bulled in with wild lunges that often missed fire, while the Frenchman countered with quick punches. Rory, a 22-year-old middleweight from White Plains, N.Y., who is rated No. 4 contender in the class, was cut on the left cheekbone in the first and Ballarin was sliced around he left eye in the sixth and seventh.

Calhoun, 160, expects to fight again in a month, but has nothing definite. Ballarin 159, will return to Paris for a vacation July 27.

Ballarin swept the first three rounds on most cards and also appeared to have an edge in the tenth after Calhoun had taken the lead in a solid stretch drive. There were no knockdowns.

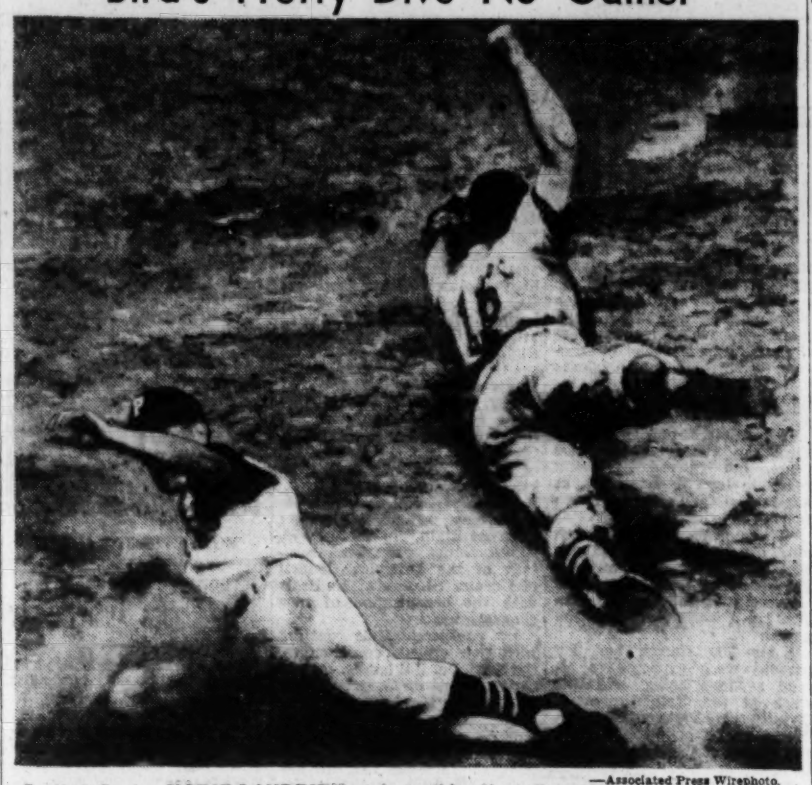
Bird's Pretty Dive No Gainer



—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Cardinal Catcher HOBIE LANDRITH made a noble effort, diving for a throw to the plate, but the Pirates' DICK GROAT slid home safely, scoring from second base on Harding Peterson's single in the sixth inning last night at Pittsburgh. The Pirates won, 7-0.

British Miler Beats Landy's World Record

LONDON, July 20 (INS) — Britain's Derek Ibbotson, after running the fastest mile in history, gave full credit for his record-smasihng performance to his pace-setter, Mike Blagrove.

Ibbotson, a 24-year-old R.A.F. electrician, snapped John Landy's three-year-old record of 3:58 with a time of 3:57.2 at London's White City Stadium in a race in which three other runners also broke the once impregnable four-minute barrier.

After the race, Ibbotson declared:

"I wanted a very fast time. Blagrove made the race for me. He was wonderful.

"After a quarter-mile, I was tired and over the last 50 yards I felt sure Ron Delany would catch me."

But Delany, a student at Villanova, didn't catch, Ibbotson. Instead, he finished second in a time of 3:58.8. Stanislav Jungwirth of Czechoslovakia, was third in 3:59.1 and England's Ken Wood finished fourth in 3:59.3.

(While Ibbotson was breaking the world mark, Dan Waern of Sweden, ran a 3:59.3 mile in Stockholm. The 24-year-old Waern thus became the first Scandinavian to break the four-mile barrier.)

Carol Hanks in Tourney Final; McKinley Wins

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20 (AP)—Gay Miller, top seeded in the 15-and-under girls' division of the Kentucky junior invitational tennis tournament, was defeated in the semifinals yesterday at the Louisville Boat Club.

Miss Miller, of LaGrange, Mo., was defeated by Carol Hanks, St. Louis, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

Miss Hanks will play Linda Nein, Middleton, O., for the championship of the division.

In the boys' 18-and-under quarterfinals, Robert Bowditch of Worcester, Mass., continued his mastery of seeded players, ousting eighth Donald Ralph of Bethesda, Md., 6-3, 6-3.

Other quarterfinal results saw unranked Chuck McKinley of St. Louis down fifth-seeded Rudy Hernando of Modesto, Calif., 6-4, 6-2; second-seeded Earl Buchholz of St. Louis trounce Allen Fox of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-2; and fourth-rated Robert Delgado of Los Angeles defeat Richard Ogden of New Canaan, Conn., 6-3, 6-1.

In today's semifinal play, Bowditch was to meet McKinley and Buchholz was paired against Delgado.

Hutchinson Takes Calm View Of Von's 7-0 Loss to Bucs

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURGH, July 20—Fred Hutchinson, who learned the hard way to take the bitter with the better as a pitcher, expressed regret, but no surprise, that wonder boy Von McDaniel had begun to feel the sting of enemy bats.

The 18-year-old sensation, knocked out in four innings last Sunday at Philadelphia, failed to survive the sixth round last night at Forbes Field, where the seventh-place Pirates cuffed the Cardinals, 7 to 0, dropping the Redbirds two games off the lead and within a percentage point of fourth place.

"I've been hoping this wouldn't happen—that the kid would get his lumps—but I knew it would," the Redbird manager observed. "There's no pitcher who ever could step right in and stand big leaguers on their heads consistently and Von is no exception. He's an outstanding prospect, but he's got things to learn."

Von was touched for nine hits, two walks and six runs (four earned) in five and two-thirds innings.

While the McDaniel boy encountered trouble, part of which resulted from fly balls that fell in a Redbird outfield not up to the spaciousness of Forbes Field, the Pirates' Vernon Law hurled handsomely, scattering nine singles. He didn't walk a man as he posted his sixth victory against four defeats. Von now is 4-2.

Murry (4-2) Dickson, who hasn't started for two weeks, and Pittsburgh's Bob (7-11) Friend probably will be the opposing pitchers in this afternoon's game.

Frank Thomas's homer was only the Pirates' third at home since June 1 against 31 for the opposition, said Manager Bobby Bragan. . . . Del Ennis broke poorly on Bob Skinner's pop double and Bill Virdon then lifted a fly ball into left field for a Pirate run in the third. . . . The two walks Von McDaniel issued contributed to two Pittsburgh runs. . . . Three St. Louis errors made three tallies unearned. . . . The hard-baked Forbes Field turf also helped two grounders bounce up and over for hits.

Stan Musial bunted in a base-hit bid for the first time this season, but was thrown out by Vernon Law as leadoff man in the sixth. . . .Good plays by St. Charles's Jim Pendleton in right field and Bill Mazeroski, the Bucco second baseman, stopped the Cards cold after Eddie Kasko led off the fifth with his first hit. . . . Al Dark also had a pair. . . . An enthusiastic 25,774 crowd, though loyal to the Pirates, applauded Von McDaniel generously.

Grace Lenczyk Victor.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 20 (UP)—Grace Lenczyk of Indian Hill, Conn., captured the Connecticut Women's Golf Association championship at the Shuttle Meadow Club by romping to a 12 and 10 victory over her newly-wed sister, Lorraine.

Miss Bailey, Mrs. Johnston Play in Final

OMAHA, Nebr., July 20 (UP)—Two corn belt golfers, neither pre-tourney favorites, met today in the 36-hole final round of the women's Western amateur golf tournament on the hilly Omaha Country Club.

It was a battle of a veteran, Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, 34, Mason City, Ia., versus a newcomer, Meriam Bailey, 19, Palatine, Ill.

Both sailed through the semifinals with easy victories. Mrs. Johnstone ousted Anne Richardson, Columbus, O., 3 and 2, and Miss Bailey fired an eagle two on the fifteenth to climax a 4-and-3 win over Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas.

Aubuchons at Hannibal for Legion Game

By John J. Archibald

Two St. Louis area teams will be in American Legion junior baseball tournaments on foreign fields today, hoping for successful weekend efforts that would bring them back for an Eastern Missouri meet early next month. Thoman-Boothe Post of Overland, will be at Washington for a game at 2 p.m. (St. Louis time), while city champion Aubuchon-Dennison will take on the Shelbina team in a 9 p.m. contest at Hannibal.

Both games are the openers of best-of-three series. The second game between Thoman-Boothe and Washington will be on the Maplewood field, Laclede Station and Marshall roads, at 2 p.m. tomorrow, and if a third game is necessary it will be at Ballwin at 8:30. Aubuchon-Dennison and Shelbina will remain at Hannibal for either one or two afternoon games.

The winners of these two series will join two other victors in a tournament for this half of the state at Ballwin, Aug. 2, 3, and 4. The champion of this two-losses-and-out event will meet the Western Missouri winner at Jefferson City the following weekend.

Thoman-Boothe won the state Legion championship in 1955, but was beaten, two games to one, by Stockham last year. Stockham went on to the national title. Aubuchon-Dennison was the state champion in 1949.

In other eastern zone games to be played next week, Jefferson City takes on Lebanon and Festus meets Cape Girardeau.

In the western zone Kansas City meets St. Joseph, Cameron plays Marceline, Joplin meets Eldorado Springs, while one of the Springfield entries goes to Trenton on a free pass due to lack of district entries.

East St. Louis Wins.

Monte Johnson's five-hit pitching and Mike Mulconnery's two-run homer gave East St. Louis a 5-3 victory over Millstadt in East St. Louis junior legion play.

Illinois playoffs starting today are as follows: Belleville vs. Edwardsville at O'Fallon at 2 p.m. and East St. Louis at Alton at 6 p.m.

Legion All-Stars To Play Tonight

The first American Legion junior baseball all-star game, between teams representing the city and county, will be played on the Ballwin, Mo., field at 8:30 tonight. Admission is 50 cents.

Whitt Plays Finsterwald, Lionel Hebert Takes On Burkemo in P.G.A. Today

DAYTON, O., July 20 (UP)—Young Don Whitt, inspired by a hole in one, won five of the last six holes to draw all even with Dow Finsterwald at the halfway mark of their 36-hole semi-final match in the P.G.A. golf championship today.

In the other match, Walter Burkemo, the match play star from Franklin, Mich., was leading Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., 1 up.

DAYTON, O., July 20 (UP)—Lionel Hebert, trying to make a golfing gamble pay off, faced Walter Burkemo and Don Whitt met Dow Finsterwald today in the semifinals of the Professional Golfers Association championship.

The field in this thirty-ninth annual tournament was narrowed down to three youngsters and the 38-year-old Burkemo, considered one of the best match players in the business after the usual "black Friday" had sent defending champion Jackie Burke, Sammy Snead, favored Doug Ford, Tommy Bolt, Ted Kroll, Mike Souchak, Claude Harmon and U. S. Open champion Dick Mayer to the sidelines.

Hebert Defeats Souchak.

Hebert quit his job as a club pro at Erie, Pa., a year ago "in an attempt to go out and make a name for myself." Only 29, and a trumpet player when he attended Louisiana State University, he knocked out Souchak and Harmon in yesterday's two 18-hole sudden death rounds.

But in Burkemo, he was meeting a player who always has been at his best in match play. The blond pro from Franklin, Mich., who won the P.G.A. title in 1953, has been in the finals of this tournament three times in the last six years.

While Hebert was beating Souchak and Harmon, both by 2 and 1 margins, Burkemo knocked out Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., 5 and 4, and then Jay Hebert, Lionel's 34-year-old brother, 2 and 1. Burkemo was an infantry sergeant in World War II, Jay Hebert an ex-Marine and both were awarded the Purple Heart.

Marusic Loses to Whitt.

Whitt, who at 26 is the "baby" left in the tourney and who served in the Navy in World War II, eliminated Milon Marusic, Algonquin Club pro from Webster Groves, Mo., 2 and 1, and then beat Mayer by the same margin.

The 27-year-old Finsterwald put out Snead in the fourth round, 3 and 1, and downed 51-year-old Charles Sheppard of West Newton, Mass., 2 up, in the quarterfinals.

In other matches yesterday Bolt fell before Harmon, 1 up; Jay Hebert beat Ford, 3 and 2; Mayer eliminated Kroll, 1 up, and Sheppard defeated Warren Smith of San Antonio, Tex., 4 and 3.

Snider Talks to Himself, Dodgers Go Like Crazy

BROOKLYN, July 20 (UP)—Duke Snider is talking to himself again and it sounds like money in the bank to the delighted Brooklyn Dodgers. The Duke insists he does his best hitting only when he talks to himself at the plate.

"I tell myself to keep my head down and not take my eye off the ball," Snider explains. "Boy, am I giving myself an earful these days."

Manager Walter Alston has said all along, "We'll be all right just as soon as Snider starts hitting.

Well, Duke began giving himself those pep talks right after the All-Star game and these are the results:

He has hit seven runs in nine games since then; his batting average has jumped 10 points to a season high of .282, and the rejuvenated Dodgers have won eight of their past nine games to climb within one game of the National League lead.

Snider put on quite a show as the Dodgers swept their first double-header of the season last night, winning a twi-nighter from the Cubs. In the opener, which the Dodgers won, 6-3, in 10 innings, Snider slammed a homer in the 10th, and then clouted his 23rd circuit of the season in the third inning of the nightcap to aid in a 5-3 triumph.

Opening Shot.

Snider's first homer of the night tied the opener at 3-3 and Rookie John Roseboro followed with a three-run homer to win the game. Lee Walls hit two homers for the Cubs and Bobby Morgan one. Sandy Koufax struck out 11 Chicago batters but the victory went to reliever Clem Labine.

Snider's second homer gave Sal Maglie a 3-1 lead in the finale and after Chicago tied the score, the Dodgers scored a pair in the sixth for their sweep. Ernie Banks and Bob Speake homered for the Cubs.

Milwaukee retained its one-game lead with a 3-1 victory over the giants, while Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia, 7-2 and Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis, 7-0.

The Yankees, who have won 18 of their past 21 games, widened their American League lead to six games by mauling Cleveland, 9-1. Boston whipped the White Sox, 5-2; Baltimore topped Kansas City, 4-2, and Detroit beat Washington, 4-1.

Veteran Andy Pafko drove in all three of Milwaukee's runs with a pair of homers off southpaw Johnny Antonelli. His second homer with one on in the ninth brought lanky Gene Conley his third victory. Bobby Thompson produced the Giant's only run with a fourth inning homer.

Cincinnati knocked out Phillie ace Jack Sanford with a five-run rally in the fifth and went on to total 15 hits, one of which was George Crowe's 21st home run. Southpaw Joe Nuxhall of the Redlegs gave up only four hits, including a homer by Roy Smalley.

Family Upset Produces New Junior Champ

For the second time in four years, 15-year-old Charles Ziegler has upset his brother, 17-year-old Larry, in a local golf tournament title match.

Charles, a short-game specialist, defeated Larry, the defending champion, by a score of 4 and 2 in the scheduled 36-hole final of the St. Louis District Junior tournament yesterday at Greenbriar Hills. Larry, a Clayton high school senior and about 10 inches taller than Charles, was 1 up at the end of the morning round but was overtaken by his brother's afternoon rally and was two down at the end of 27 holes.

In 1954, Charles beat Larry, 5 and 4, for the district juvenile title, an event Charles also won in 1955 and 1956.

Differences in their games included these: Larry prepared for the title match by driving golf balls late Thursday evening. Charles went frog hunting. Larry had 12-year-old brother Gordon as his caddy, Charles had 22-year-old brother Clifford as his caddy.

Myles Roche of Algonquin defeated Fred Scott of Westborough, 1 up in 21 holes, to win the Class A title. Scott was three down after 15 holes, and won the next three to square the match and take it extra distance. Edward Kalin of St. Louis Country Club defeated Mark Sertl of Sunset, 2 and 1, in the Class B final.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, July 20 (AP)—Leon Richardson, basketball coach at the College of the Ozarks, yesterday was named to a similar coaching position at the University of Dubuque.

SHEPPARD CASE SUSPECT SAID TO GIVE NEW FACTS

COLUMBUS, O., July 20 (UP) —A convict who claims he killed Marilyn Sheppard disclosed details of the murder that were never made public, it was reported today.

Statements made by Donald Joseph Wedler, 23 years old, to a lie detector expert, were given to Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, counsel for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath serving a life term for his wife's murder.

Herbert did not give reporters the unpublished details of the Sheppard murder that Wedler mentioned while being questioned by Alex Gregory, a lie detector expert, in Deland, Fla.

Sheppard himself will undergo a lie detector examination by Gregory, it was announced after Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill authorized the test on the basis of the "confession" made by Wedler.

Time for Test Not Set.

Ohio penitentiary warden Ralph Alvis said he talked by telephone with Erle Stanley Gardner of the "Court of Last Resort" in Florida and proposed the lie detector test be given next week. He said Gardner, however, did not know when the test would be given. Alvis said he doubted Gardner would set a definite time for the test before the first of the week.

The Governor authorized the lie-detector test at Sheppard's request. O'Neill said that this was the first time that Sheppard had asked to take a test. It will be given in Ohio penitentiary here where he is serving a life sentence for second-degree murder.

Sheppard had refused to undergo a lie-detector test during the investigation of the July 4, 1954, murder of Mrs. Sheppard on the ground that it would not be "impartial." But Sheppard maintained his innocence throughout the trial and subsequent appeals to higher courts.

Wedler told reporters in Deland last night that he entered a Cleveland home on the night Mrs. Sheppard was killed, beat a woman with a steel pipe as she slept and then struck someone who rushed upstairs.

Husband's Contention.

Sheppard maintained throughout the trial that he was lying on couch on the night of the murder and rushed upstairs when he heard a noise only to be knocked unconscious by a bushy-haired intruder.

Even so, Cleveland authorities remained skeptical about the Wedler confession, noting discrepancies. For instance, Wedler said he struck the woman only a few times while an autopsy report showed she had been bludgeoned about 35 times.

Wedler, who was the twenty-fifth person to "confess" the crime, told reporters he was in a "mental fog" after he bludgeoned a Cleveland housewife and could not remember everything he did. But after reading accounts of the Sheppard murder, he said he was convinced he killed Mrs. Sheppard because "there couldn't be any other answer."

"I got to thinking about it and reading about it, and I got to thinking I did it," Wedler said.

46-SHIP NATO FLEET MAKES MOCK ATTACK ON SARDINIA

WITH COMBINED FLEETS OFF SARDINIA, July 20 (AP) —A 46-ship force of the United States, British and Italian navies held a landing operation today on the southern tip of Sardinia.

About 1700 United States Sixth Fleet Marines and 600 British Royal Marine Commandos stormed ashore in a mock invasion at Porto Teulada.

The NATO exercise was observed by high officers of the three nations. Cruisers and destroyers of the Sixth Fleet and the British Mediterranean Fleet provided gunfire support for the landing. Air support was provided by United States carrier-based planes. The Marines are to withdraw from Sardinia Monday.

TRIBES ATTACK BRITISH-BACKED OMAN SULTANATE

BAHREIN, July 20 (AP)—Rebel tribesmen, sweeping down from the mountains, have attacked villages in the British-protected Arab sultanate of Muscat and Oman in fighting that continued today.

A number of Arabs were reported killed and a British officer of the Sultan of Oman's forces wounded in battle.

The sultanate is in the southeast corner of the Arabian peninsula, adjoining the British protectorate of Aden. Its 550,000 people cultivate dates and other fruits and harvest fish and pearls from the Gulf of Oman. The family of the present Sultan, Said bin Taimur, has ruled the country since 1741. In this century Britain has given the Sultan an annual subsidy and a guarantee of protection in return for certain rights.

The uprising reportedly began three days ago when 1500 tribesmen carrying smuggled American-made arms attacked villages in the foothills. They were said to be led by the Imam of Muscat, who recently returned from exile in Saudi Arabia, where he fled after leading a similar uprising three years ago.

British navy, army and air force commanders have been called by the Sultan to a meeting in Muscat tomorrow to work out a plan of action.

Gas Bill

by as much as one billion per year."

The minority committee members also voiced the opinion that price increases on natural gas "would pave the way for further increases in the price of competing fuel oil, in some casss, the cost of generating electricity, where gas is used for fuel."

With an expected increase in demand for gas pipelines laid into new areas, these carrier companies must bid against each other for supplies, said the minority report, leaving the consumer "caught in a vicious circle" of spiraling prices.

Those signing the minority report included Representatives John W. Heselton of Massachusetts, John B. Bennett of Michigan and Paul F. Schenck of Ohio, all Republicans; and Peter F. Mack of Illinois, Kenneth A. Roberts of Alabama, Harley O. Staggers of West Virginia, Isidore Dollinger of New York, Samuel N. Friedel of Maryland, Torbert H. Macdonald of Massachusetts, George M. Rhodes of Pennsylvania, John E. Moss of California, John D. Dingell of Michigan and J. Carlton Loser of Tennessee, all Democrats.

NAVY BOOSTS INTELLIGENCE STANDARDS TO CUT FORCES

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP) —The Navy has increased its intelligence standards in an effort to speed the discharge of more than 15,000 sailors.

The Navy's action was prompted by Secretary of Defence Charles E. Wilson's recent order reducing the manpower strength of the armed forces by 100,000. To comply with the directive, the Navy will have to cut 15,900 from its rolls by next January'

Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates Jr. told commanders to force the discharge of enlisted men with scores of less than 42 on the Navy's "general classification test." Highest possible score is 77; the Navy average is 48.9.

The Navy said also it intends to reduce its officer strength by 1635, mainly by releasing junior reserve officers now on active duty. It said it also would curtail officer procurement programs and reduce recruiting quotas.

BANK OFFICIAL CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLING $40,000

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., July 20 (AP)—Eugene Vincent Brosseau, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Junction City, was arrested yesterday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and charged with embezzling approximately $40,000.

Brosseau, 36 years old, was immediately given a hearing before United States Commissioner Charles D. Green at Manhattan and released on $1000 bond to await action in United States District Court.

Agent Percy Wyly II, at Kansas City, Mo., said the FBI had been working on the case for some time. He said Brosseau was accused of concealing withdrawals through manipulation of bank records.

CROWDER PARK SELECTED FOR GIRL SCOUT ROUNDUP

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP)—Selection of Crowder State Park, near Trenton, Mo., as the site for the 1958 Region 8 Girl Scout roundup was announced Friday.

Miss M. Isobel Crowe, regional director, said the regional committee also had set the dates as Aug. 4-17. She said preparations were being made for 632 senior Girl Scouts and 75 adult staff members from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming.

The Scouts will use Camp Grand River as their headquarters and will have three large areas for tent camp sites. It will be the region's second roundup, the first was in Colorado in 1955.

TRAIN WRECK TOLL NOW 19

AVIGNON, France, July 20 (AP)—The death toll from yesterday's derailment of the Nice-Paris express stood at 19 today. Officials said 15 survivors remained in serious condition. More than 60 others were injured in the wreck.

Wrecking crews continued to clear the station in the Rhone valley town of Bollene, 25 miles north of here, where the train careened off the tracks after going into a dead end siding at 75 miles an hour. Scalding steam from the pierced boiler of the engine was blamed for many of the casualties.

PRESIDENT SAYS BAR ON G.I. TRIALS WOULD HURT U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP) —President Eisenhower said today that this country's security would be "gravely" threatened by proposals to forbid foreign trials of United States Servicemen for crimes committed on foreign soil.

The President made a special plea against enactment of such legislation in a letter to House Republican Leader Joseph Martin.

"In my judgment, the passage of any such legislation by the Congress would gravely threaten our security, alienate our friends and give aid and comfort to those who want to destroy our way of life," he said.

The White House, in making the letter public, said it was requested by Martin in the face of legislative proposals growing out of the case of G.I. William S. Girard.

"I can think of no recent legislative proposal which would so threaten the essential security of the United States," the President wrote.

He referred specifically to a House joint resolution which would prohibit this Government from turning over to a foreign government for trial any member of the United States Armed Forces on active duty abroad.

He added that he would regard "as equally unfortunate any attempt to add the substance" of the proyosed House resolution as an amendment to any other legislation. This was an obvious reference to attempts to add such legislation as a rider to the pending foreign aid bill.

"We cannot demand—indeed we should not ask—that for us alone our Allies in the struggle to maintain world peace should grant extra-territoriality and completely surrender their rights of sovereignty over criminal offenses committeed in their alnds," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Representative Frank T. Bow (Rep.), Ohio, has offered a resolution which would have Mr. Eisenhower revise or renounce status of forces agreements with allies. On Wednesday the House defeated, by a 134-134 tie vote, a modified version of this proposal as an amendment to the foreign aid bill. Bow's resoltuion itself has not yet been acted on by the House.

French Release American to Army Pending Trial.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

PARIS, July 20—Army Specialist 3-C De Wayne McOsker, of Manhasset, N.Y., was released from Sante prison to American military custody yesterday pending an expected trial on a charge he shot to death an Algerian in the Pigalle nightclub quarter of Paris in May in a dispute over payment for two cartons of American cigarettes.

Officers at the Army supply base at Orleans, southwest of Paris, said McOsker, 21 years old, would be returned to "duty status" as a cook with his unit, a transportation company, "until his presence is required by the French tribunal."

almost to 51 per cent by the end of that year. The Frisco application for authority to acquire control was filed Dec. 6, 1955.

"That was too late," he insisted. "Under the act, Frisco should have had commission approval to acquire controlling interest, not just filing an application at the end of the year, when they already had control.

"They were in violation all that time."

Frisco's Explanation.

In St. Louis a spokesman for the Frisco said any violation of the law by the railroad was inadvertent, and hinged on the question of whether a certain block of Central of Georgia stock could be voted. This block of stock is not owned by the Frisco. If the block could be voted, it was explained, then the Frisco holdings constituted less than 50 per cent of the shares outstanding; if it could not be voted, then Frisco had more than a majority.

As soon as the railroad learned that the question had been raised, the spokesman continued, Frisco's stock was placed in a voting trust so that the railroad had no power to vote it.

The Frisco now owns about 64 per cent of Central's 337,236 shares of common stock and 170,417 shares of preferred. The ICC authorized Frisco's purchase of all additional shares tendered to it within 60 days at prices of $56 per share for common stock and $82 for preferred.

Workers Protected.

Approval of Frisco control was conditioned on job protection for Central's employes, protection of the interests of minority stockholders and maintenance of all existing connections with other railroads.

Central operates 1800 miles of track in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee, connecting with the Frisco at Birmingham. Control of the Georgia railroad gives the Frisco access to the Southeastern territory and the Atlantic part of Savannah, Ga.

The Frisco had been interested in buying control of the Central of Georgia for five years or more. On Nov. 4, 1955, it announced that its stock holdings were sufficient to assure working control, but a spokesman indicated but its policy for the time being was to hold the stock as an investment, rather than to exercise control of the Georgia line.

The application for ICC approval was filed later.

Red Red Roses.

LONDON, July 20 (UP) —Radio Moscow today reported 100,000 red roses have been planted along Moscow boulevards, parks and court yards in preparation for the Communist world youth festival.

Hoffa

Committee counsel Robert Kennedy said the committee was going ahead with "our investigation of Hoffa."

McClellan said Hoffa's name would figure in the committee's next target—the labor situation in the New York area—and that Hoffa may be called as a witness.

Hoffa also faces federal wiretap charges in New York based on the accusation he conspired to tap his own office telephones in Detroit.

The jury which yesterday cleared Hoffa apparently believed his story over that of John Cye Cheasty, the Senate committee investigator Hoffa was accused of paying to get committee secrets.

Cheasty testified he did relay committee data to Hoffa, but only after informing the committee and the FBI of the alleged plot. A series of FBI agents bolstered the Cheasty's story.

Hoffa's Testimony.

Testifying in his own defense, Hoffa said he hired Cheasty only to advise him as an attorney.

After the trial ended, Kennedy praised Cheasty and said the lawyer will continue to be a "key figure" in the committee's investigations.

Hoffa looked straight at the jury of seven women and five men when the "not guilty" verdict was announced.

"It proves once again," he said afterward, "that if you are honest and tell the truth you have nothing to fear."

Even before Beck tangled with the rackets committee last spring, Hoffa was reported eyeing the union president's job. Beck is retiring from the post in the wake of accusations aired by the Senate committee that he misused large sums of union funds.

If Hoffa is elected to the top post in the Teamsters, that might complicate the AFL-CIO attitude of co-operating with McClellan's committee.

This could mean a pitched battle within the AFL-CIO hierarchy, with AFL-CIO president George Meany on one hand and Hoffa on the other.

Gibbons Gave Testimony in Hoffa's Behalf.

Harold J. Gibbons, Teamster leader in St. Louis, was one of the witnesses testifying in Hoffa's behalf. Gibbons testified that he was with Hoffa from about 2 p.m. until around 6:30 p.m. at a meeting in the Palmer House in Chicago on Feb. 22.

The testimony by Gibbons was given after Cheasty had testified that on Feb. 22 he had talked from New York by long-distance telephone with Hoffa and Fischbach in Chicago at 5 p.m. (Chicago time). Testimony by Gibbons indicated that Hoffa could not have talked on the telephone during that time because they were in a conference on union matters and that Hoffa was never out of his presence around the time in question. Hoffa testified previously that he and Fischbach had never talked to Cheasty on the same phone call from Chicago on that day or any other time.

SUHRAWARDY'S REMARKS IN U.S. OFFENSIVE TO INDIA

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP) —India has protested to the State Department against attacks on India by Pakistani Prime Minister Suhrawardy on his official visit to the United States.

Indian Ambassador G. L. Mehta lodged the complaint yesterday during a 45-minute call on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. An embassy spokesman said Mehta pointed to "factual inaccuracies" in statements by Suhrawardy.

It was understood the Indian Government was particularly put out over Suhrawardy's remarks in a speech at the National Press Club. In the off-the-cuff speech, he said India was following the same "grab and hold" policy in Kashmir as Russia did in eastern Europe.

STRIKE STOPS BUS SERVICE IN BRITAIN OUTSIDE LONDON

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—Some 100,000 bus firm employes went on strike throughout Britain today in a demand for equal pay with London bus crews. Industrial plants improvised convoys to bring employes to work as the strike began at midnight.

Thousands of vacation-goers got refunds from the long distance bus services and jammed trains bound for seaside resorts.

The busmen, most of them members of the Transport and General Workers Union, asked for a $2.80 a week pay rise to bring them up to the $31.50 paid to London bus drivers. London's bus system was not effected by the walkout.

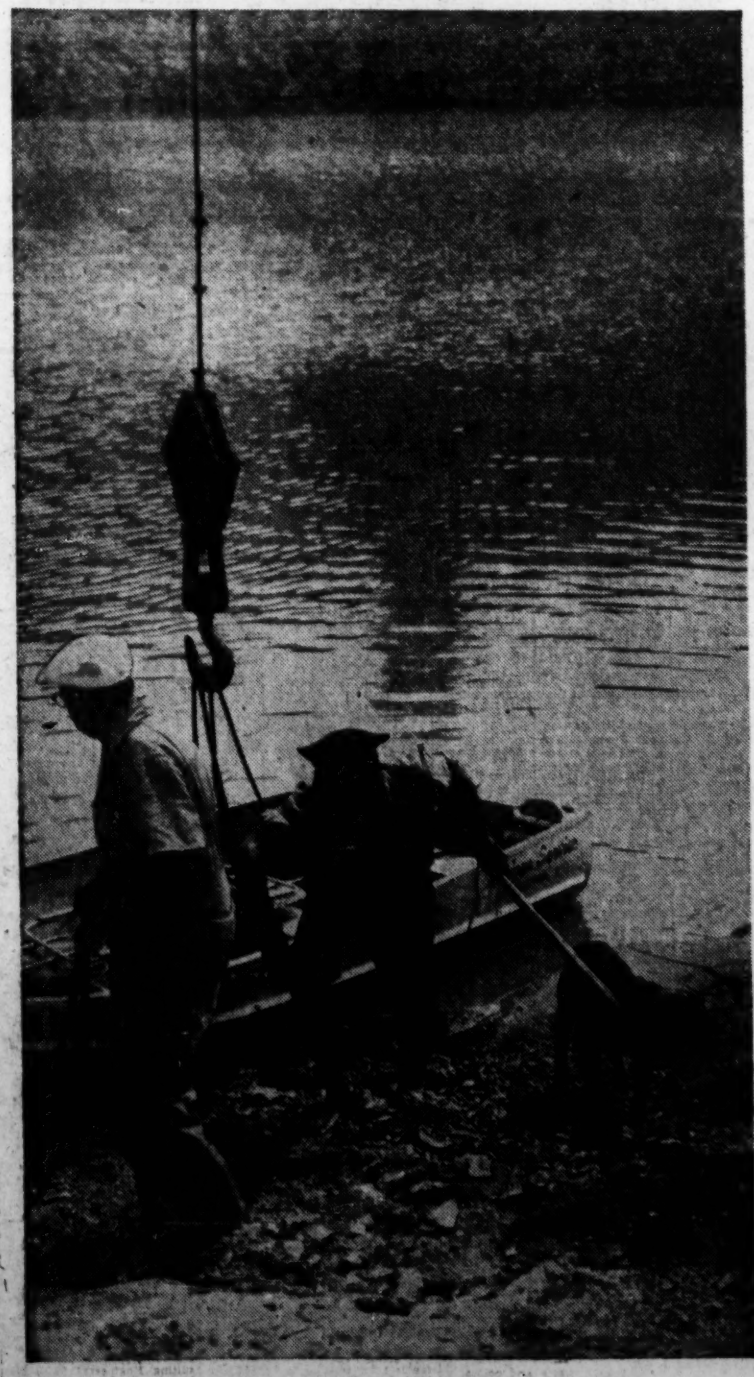
RESCUE OPERATION

Quarry crane starts to lower boat into the depths of Rock Hill quarry as rescue operation for a stray dog moved into high gear yesterday. Below, rescuers Harold Briggs (left) and Andy Nappier, of the Animal Protective Association, bring dog ashore after removing it from ledge on far side of quarry. They had clambered 127 rugged feet down side of the quarry to water level and were forced to carry the exhausted animal part of the way on the return trip. Animal was reported recovering nicely from its ordeal today. —By Lloyd Spainhower, a Post-Dispatch Photographer.



RANKING BEAUTIES

END OF A BAD DAY

Paul Egan, controversial mayor of Aurora, Ill., standing momentarily subdued behind bars yesterday to round out what he called "the worst day of my life." Hurrying to Chicago to engage a lawyer, after striking an Aurora official, he was arrested for speeding, then locked himself in a service station wash room while getting a tire fixed and on returning home was taken in custody on assault charges filed by Commissioner W. B. Robertson.

PIGGYBACK JOURNEY

Only part of the lead rests on barge as big airliner is moved across Jamaica bay in salvage operation at New York yesterday. The plane, operated by Flying Tiger line, was removed from small strip of land separating Jamaica bay from the Atlantic ocean where it had been set down in a forced landing last month. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

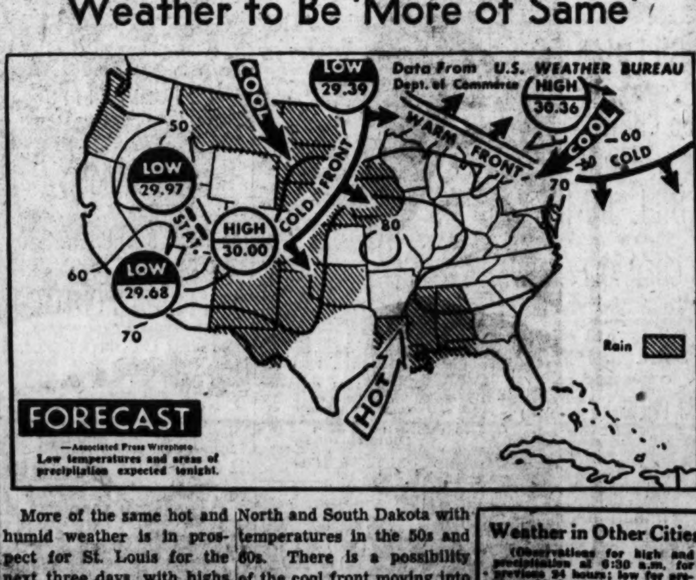
Weather to Be 'More of Same'



—Associated Press Wirephoto
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

More of the same hot and humid weather is in prospect for St. Louis for the next three days, with highs in the 90s and lows in the 70s, the Weather Bureau said today.

State lows of 68 were reported this morning at West Plains and Farmington. Kansas City registered 78. Yesterday's high was 100 at St. Joseph. St. Louis reported highs of 92 in the city and 95 as the airport with lows of 77.

Coolest weather in the nation this morning was reported in northwest Montana with West Yellowstone registering a low of 40. Cool weather also prevailed in North and South Dakota with temperatures in the 50s and 60s. There is a possibility of the cool front moving into the St. Louis area, but not before Tuesday, Arthur A. Rausch, assistant chief weatherman, said.

Yesterday there were scattered showers across the nation with concentrated activity in western Iowa and central Minnesota. Des Moines had an inch of rain and Minneapolis reported 2.62 inches.

Asked if rain would bring relief to this area, Rausch said cautiously, "There's always a chance of evening thundershowers, but I wouldnt' bet on it."

The Bridge Deck

By Florence Osborn

"THIS hand came up in a friendly bridge session in Garden City, and I sat East and managed to defeat South's four-heart contract by unblocking in spades so that I could gain a ruff in the suit," writes W.F.B. in presenting today's deal.

West dealer.

NORTH: ♠A94 ♥8632 ♦QJ73 ♣J6
WEST: ♠Q8763 ♥7 ♦82 ♣AK1083
EAST: ♠X10 ♥A3 ♦10964 ♣97542
SOUTH: ♠J52 ♥KQJ1094 ♦AK5 ♣Q

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1♠	Pass	2♠	3♥
2♠	Pass	Pass	3♥
Pass	4♥	Dbl.	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I doubled on the strength of my partner's bidding," our contributor continues. "It appeared to me that I had two tricks—spade king and heart ace—and I counted on West for at least two more. But when West opened the king of clubs and dummy's queen fell, things looked rosy. West shifted to the six of spades, declarer went up with dummy's ace and I could see only three tricks for our side—a club, heart and spade—unless I could get in a spade ruff before declarer gained a spade discard on a long diamond in dummy.

"So I threw my king of spades under dummy's ace, playing my partner for the queen of spades. Now when declarer led a trump from dummy, I hopped up with the ace and returned my last spade. Partner took South's jack with the queen and continued a spade, permitting me to ruff dummy's nine for down one. We won a club, a heart, a spade and a spade ruff.

"Had I instead played the spade 10 under dummy's ace, I could have cashed the king of spades when I got in with the trump ace, but that would be all. I would be unable to reach West's hand and declarer could draw trumps and throw his last spade on dummy's fourth diamond."

Note that declarer can make his heart game by ducking the first round of spades. East will win with the king, but now even if the queen-10 are with West, declarer can win the spade return with the ace, draw trumps and throw a spade on a diamond, averting the ruff.

Terry Cloth Beach Coat

The terry cloth beach coat is again popular and is seen in brief versions as well as the familiar coat style. Among other white cotton beach coats are some jaunty canvas models with zipper closing and flaring back. A long, slim coat that is sleeveless is made of white polished cotton.

If you have an electric blender you may use it to make crumbs from dry bread zwieback and graham crackers. The trick is to add only a small amount of the dry material to the blender at one time.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

A LONG letter has come from a youth named Marshall Clarke. He wrote:

"The other day I was discussing the pros and cons of space travel with some friends. One of them said he did not believe rockets would work in space, for they would have nothing to work against. He also said that the fuel in the rocket would be drawn out into empty space.

"Some day I hope to make a place for myself in science. This problem bothers me. I cannot just throw it aside, and say that I am right and my friend is wrong.

"You have helped many people come a little closer to understanding the universe. Now I should like to ask you for special help."

WE are without proof that space between heavenly bodies is completely "empty." An extremely thin gas may spread through the universe. A hundred cubic miles of this gas may weigh less than the air in a single room on earth.

A rocket can be expected to travel from one planet to another almost without resistance. If it leaves the earth at, say, 10 miles a second, it may keep up almost the same speed without more fuel for millions of miles.

UNLESS ways are found to "pack away" the fuel, it could be drawn out by the vacuum, or near-vacuum, in space.

It is likely, however, that atomic fuel will be manufactured inside the rocket. We may expect scientists and inventors to find ways to use the fuel without danger of losing it before it does its work.

17 of 21 Boys Recaptured After Escape at Boonville

BOONVILLE, Mo., July 20 (AP)—All but four of the 21 inmates who escaped in the last 24 hours from the Missouri State Training School for Boys have been apprehended.

Superintendent Pat Sweeney made the report today and added that the missing four had been spotted in the Boonville area and probably would be back shortly.

Early today the Missouri Highway Patrol caught five of the escapees at a cafe west of Springfield, Mo. They were driving a car reported stolen at Boonville.

All of the escapees range in age from 14 to 16.

Another of the escapees was taken into custody near Jefferson City.

The training school at present houses 486 boys committed to the institution by juvenile courts. Sweeney said the school was built to house only 300.

There are 11 cottages used to house the boys. Sweeney said each cottage has a supervisor, and that he did not have all details of the escapes. He said he knew that the supervisor of one of the cottages was busy on the second floor when the boys broke out from the basement window.

PHILIPPINE ARMY BEGINS ALL-OUT DRIVE ON HUKS

MANILA, July 20 (AP)—The Philippine army today began an all-out drive against Communist-directed Huk dissidents who failed to surrender under the Philippines' new anti-Communist law.

Yesterday was the deadline for surrender under the 30-day provision of the law.

Sixteen battalion combat teams fanned out in the Sierra Madre, Arayat and Zambales mountains on Luzon island where the Huks have their hideouts.

As of yesterday, the army said, 2765 Huks or dissident sympathizers who had been supplying the rebels surrendered on Luzon. The figures were not broken down but previous estimates indicated only about 10 per cent of those surrendering were actually Huks or Reds.

Under the new law, leaders and organizers of the Communist party in the Philippines, including the Huks, face a possible death penalty. Party members can be sentenced to varying prison terms upon conviction.

MOVIES SIGN TOMMY SANDS; $10,000 FOR HIS FIRST FILM

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 20 (AP)—Singer Tommy Sands, practically an unknown a few months ago, signed a movie contract yesterday. He was in superior court for court approval of the contract, required because he is a minor.

Sands was recommended recently by Elvis Presley to play the lead role in a television play, "The Singing Idol." The 19-year-old Sands will re-create the role in a movie version.

The film contract stipulates that Sands will be paid $10,000 for "The Singing Idol." Options in the contract, if picked up by the studio, could ultimately run his pay up to $100,000 a picture in six years.

Lightning Starts $600,000 Fire.

MALVERN, Ark., July 20 (AP)—Lightning struck a huge shed full of hardwood flooring at a lumber yard here last night and caused a $600,000 fire. Night Watchman S. A. Curlee told fire officials he saw the bolt hit the building at the A. B. Cook Lumber Co. in a severe electrical storm.
